Dora was perfectly civil to him, but as cold as an iceberg.

"May I go to my room now?" she asked, rising abruptly as Mrs. Courtenay and her brother entered.

"Certainly," answered the lady kindly, and escorted her upstairs.

"Good night!" said Dora, stopping short upon the threshold of the bedroom door. Her hostess probably comprehended all the proud young heart; for she had the tate not press any attentions upon the girl, but just with a wish that she might sleep well, turned sawy and left her as quickly as she could. Then Dora locked the door, and flinging herself upon the bed, gave vent in the growth of the ground to the proud pook on the first. FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1880.

THE DEMOCRATIC PRESS called Gen. Hancock a "political butcher" when I obeyed orders and hanged Mrs. Surratt.

THE HERALD says that the suggestion of the name of Henry Cabot Lodge of Nahant, for representative from the 5th district, is a very good one. Mr. Lodge district, is a very good one. Mr. bodge is a young man of great qualities, which experience in public life would develop. No young man since Charles Sumner has entered the political arena in this state so well equipped for great service.

IF ANY POOR SINNER wishes to be saved from the effects of his sins through the agency of Parson Talmage's Brooklyn tabernacle, he must see to it that no offensive odor emanates from his person, as the good brothers and sisters of that church possess nostrils so sensitive that they will not try to save the soul of a rank sinner, but just hustle him out of doors Sinners going to hear the Great American Ranter should use rose-water and Hoyt's German with great liberality.

THE QUESTION as to the moral right of

The QUESTION as to the moral right or wrong involved in a constant attendance upon divine worship on Sunday can only be settled by every man with his own conscience. If he honestly believes he gets as much good from lazily sitting in his hammock and reading the elaborate report of the latest base ball match or rowing fizzle, as printed in the Sunday edition of the dailies as he would from edition of the dailies, as he would from listening to a thoughtful and studied dis course of his minister upon some of the great living moral questions of the time, why there seems nothing to do but to leave him wedded to his gods. Bu although we are not very strict Sunday diciplinarians we yet believe that the man who alienates himself from the practic of regularly attending church loses that ot be substituted by any othe agency. There are those who truly find "sermons in stones and books in run ning brooks," but they are few indeed who can listen to these sermons and receive the good from them that seldom fails to come from the hearing of a good one from the lips of a human preacher. It matters but little how much a man may doubt or distrust the great central doctrine of a church; he can scarcely fail to imbibe something good from the atmosphere pervading it. He must be a cynic indeed who can sit among hundreds of his fellow-men whose minds and hearts are filled with praise to Him they know as their and not find his own inspired with better thoughts and higher aims. He for gets for the moment to cavil at the par ticular article of the creed which h "cannot swallow," and in spite of his week-day resolution not to worship the God who requires his intellect to bow to what it cannot understand he is half uncor ously lifted out of critical self and find himself bowing his head with his devou neighbor. There are things in the creed of most religious societies that the think ing but unemotional man finds it very difficult to reconcile; but there are few who do not feel the better for having spent an hour on Sunday in the house se apart by devout men for the worship of God. In no other walk of life are we so critical as toward churches and religion In politics we have catholicity of feeling sufficient to welcome to our party ever one who will vote our ticket, be he blace or white, rich or poor, learned or ignoran and let him differ as he may on mine points. In business the man who is ou customer is our good friend as well. But we seize upon the pettiest of petty excuse for not attending church. It is too hot of his r's; and if we belong to the gentler sex the list of excuses is made to cover the whole visible wardrobe, from the color of the bonnet-ribbons to the style of the slipper-tie. There are few intelligent and thinking people who admit squarely that they do not attend church because they do not believe in religion. They take shelter behind some excuse too frivolous to influence the least of their week-day actions. People whom it tires to excess to walk the quarter of a mile to church can walk two miles to see a half-nude woman ride four horses at once at a circus, or tramp to a picnic with huge church goer who squarely declares there is nothing in religion and that he gets no ental truths of the christian re- tial part of a sound training." formal creed conform to the actual belief and you have undertaken an almost hopeless task. He says corn for this purpose can be planted from this time to the 20th of July, and even until August 1.

LYNN REJOICES in the contemplation of the speedy completion of putting in the Holly system of steam heating. The en-gineers are at work on the working plans, and the labor of laying the pipes will soon be begun. It is hoped that the steam car be furnished takers by the time cold weather makes it needful. Two pipes are to be laid parallel with each other, one to convey the steam at high pressure for manufacturing purposes, and the other at ow pressure for heating.

A STRANGE FATALITY seems to have fallen upon the steamers in and about New York and the neghboring water courses. It was on the night of Friday, the 11th of June, that the Narragansett tragedy occurred in Long Island Sound. Two days later, a couple of hundred miles out days later, a couple of hundred miles out at sea, two great ocean steamers, the Anchoria and the Queen, came into collision with a force which might easily have proved the destruction of both. On Saturday, the 19th, the Adelaide was sunk in New York harbor by the steamer Grand Republic, and if it had not been that the Adelaide had just landed her passengers. Adelaide had just landed her passengers, there must have been great loss of life, so short was the interval between the col-lision and the sinking. On Wednesday, the 23d, the steamer City of New York of the Alexandre line, just arrived from Charleston, was burned to the water's edge while lying at her dock in Brooklyn. And now tidings come of a disaster which rivals that of the Narragansett in horror. The steamer Seawanhaka, bound from New York for various points on Long Island, and having on board several hundred persons, among them many who were re-turning from their business in New York to their summer homes on the Island, takes fire from some unexplained cause, and in broad day-light, with other steamers close at hand and Randall's Island but a few rods away, thirty or forty of her passengers are burned to death or drowned. And the very latest is a Mon-treal steamer which was going out a lock on the Lachine canal on Tuesday, when the engineer rang the bell too quickly and she went ahead before the gate could be opened. The result was a frightful crash, carrying away the gate and the bows of the steamer at the same time, the water from above rushing in like a miniature Niagara. The force of the torrent carried the steamer, partially submerged, back to the wharf which she had only just left and she was secured before she had time to go down altogeter. There was a large number of passengers on board, who were thrown into a panic, but all were finally landed, a few only, who were in the from of the steamer, suffering injuries from eing crushed.

Is IT A PROFITABLE THING to teach the so-called classics in our common schools Does the slight knowledge of Greek, Latin or French obtained in high schools com pensate for the superficial knowledge of for not attending church. It is too hot or too celd; we are too tired; we do not like the manner in which the preacher rolls mittee to consider during the long summittee to consider during the long summer vacation. Were they submitted to us for an answer we should unhesitating-ly say, No. The meagre knowledge of these languages possible to acquire at any ordinary high school is practically worth-less in after life. The defective English training received in consequence of them is a constant drawback. Such high authority as President Eliot of Harvard college says: "I may avow as the result of my own reading and observation in the matter of education, that I recognize but one mental acquision as an essential part of the education of a lady or a gentleman —namely, an accurate and refined use of the mother-tongue. Greek, Latin, French, lunch basket, row, dance, and walk all the mother-tongue. Greek, Latin, French, day and return home "so refreshed and invigorated." In no other cause will people who do not, affirming that the study so belittle and degrade themselves as in searching for an excuse that will satisfy their own conscience and their friends for not attending church. Then, too, the churches themselves are largely to blame if their membership and attendance is falling off, as is asserted. They cling to old customs and beliefs until they are fairly torn in tatters and not enough left of them to grasp at all. Many, and perhaps most, churches retain among their articles of belief things that not one in a hundred of their own members believe. If a person joins a church he is asked to subscribe to articles of faith which his conscience utterly rejects. He must assent to the whole creed formally, but is often comforted by the assurance from pastor or examining committee that they do not themselves fully subscribe to the doubtful point. How can a man who is not a brute helieve in some of the most prepared will he be to cope with the prepared will he prepared will be prepared will be prepared will be prepared will be prepared w so belittle and degrade themselves as in of Greek and Latin is not only necessary forted by the assurance from pastor of examining committee that they do not themselves fully subscribe to the doubtful point. How can a man who is not a brute believe in some of the horrible doctrines that form a part of so many church creeds of to-day? The churches are too conservative in their formalities, prompt and decided answer in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the deliberate and stately manner of a Cicero in the delected representatives to the grand lodge.

A Brilliant Wedding in Westford.

A wedding of unusual interest occurred in Westford Monday afternoon, at the elegant residence of John W. Abbot, Esq. The bride, Miss Emma D. Southwick, will be well remembered by our readers as the lady who had charge of the New England log cabin during the centennial exhibition in Philadelphia. She is a sister of Mrs, Abbot. The bridegroom was a popular army surgeon, Dr. J. Bernard Brinton of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George H. Young of Woburn, a brother-in-law of the bride, assisted by Rev. E. A. Horton, pastor of the Second (Unitarian) church in Boston. A large number of friends was present from Westford, Lowell, Boston and other places. Among the distinguished guests were His Excellency Gov. Long, and several of his staff in full uniform, including Cols. Lockwood, Schaff, and Kingsbury. Also Gen. and Mrs. Cunningham, and Rev. A. A. Death of an Old Resident of Woburn.

Death of an Old Resident of Woburn.

Mr. John Converse, for many years a resident of this city, died on last Monday. Mr. Converse was born on February 18, 181, In Woburn, Mass., where he was married on July 9, 1832, to Euranid Nelson, and resided in that place some 50 years, when he and his family removed to this city in 1865, where they have since resided. Mr. Converse embraced the Baptist faith at Woburn at the age of 19, and maintained it during life. He had been in feeble health for the past eight years, but was a man of iron nerve and firm resolutions, and has kept himself up when others might have failed. His last illness was but a weeks duration, and on Monday, June 21, he passed quietly over the river to the land beyond. He never indujed in public life, but in every day walks he was faithful, in his christian devotion bearing up under his burdens with great fortitude and perseverance. His place in the church and community will be hard to fill. His funeral took place at his late residence on East Main street, last Tuesday at two o'clock, and his remains was followed to Wood Lawn cemetery by a large cortage of mourning friends.—Clinton (Ill.) An Imposter.

The following notice sent to the clergymen in town by the Fitchburg police was not quite in time to prevent some of them being swindled by the chap, who however did not remain in town long enough to become acquainted with our police.

"An imposter under the names of James Holland, James Lincoln, Gen. Frazer, etc., etc., slso as a Harvard student selling books, a Baptist minister seeking a place to preach, claiming to be a member of the Unitarian church at Indian Orchard, Springfield, and having various forged letters of recommendation, is visiting the towns in this State, begging of clergymen and others. I have a warrant for his arrest. If he should call on any clergyman in town, please notify me immediately by telegraph and I will come for him."

Hanged Himself.

Quite a little breeze of excitement was caused in town on Sunday by the report that a man had committed suicide by hanging, on Horn Pond mountain. An investigation proved the rumor correct, and that the unfortunate man who had taken his own life was one Thomas Murphy who lived at the corner of Main and Fowle streets. Murphy was a man about sixty years of age and had been for some time in very poor health and was melaneholy and despondent. Dr. Frederic Winsor of Winchester, medical examiner for this district, viewed the body, and deeming an inquest unnecessary turned it over to the relatives. Murphy leaves a large family in destitute circumstances.

Monday forenoon Chauncy Conn, son of George H. Conn, Willie Haber and Horace R. Last Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Anderson read a sermon by Dr. Channing as a fitting memorial of that illustrious divine. The subject of the sermon was "Sin," and the earnest and powerful words of the great preacher were singularly impressive, as if lips long still had uttered them.

WINCHESTER.

The Reform Club Celebration.—The fourth anniversary of the Winchester Reform club was celebrated last night. From seven to eight o'clock a reception was given at the house of Hon. Josiah F. Stone to the governor and the other distinguished guests of the club. A great number of the leading citizens of the town with the officers of the Winchester and visiting clubs were present. The anniversary exercises were opened in the Congregational church by singing and prayer by the Rev. Charles R. Seymour. The secretary, Mr. S. C. Small, presented a report showing the present membership of the club to be 160. The club was organized May 6, 1876; its greatest membership at one time has been 324, and it has held since its organization about 480 public meetings and induced 1600 persons to sign the pledge. Mr. Small introduced as the first speaker Hon. H. H. Faxon of Quincy, who emphasized the importance of teaching the children, and who said that "the man who pretends to be a temperance man and goes to the polls and votes for a license candidate is recreant to his duty." Gov. Long in coming upon the platform was received with applause, and began his address by saying that he had not come prepared to make a speech, but only to show his interest in the cause of temperance. Mr. David Frost, the next speaker, announced as a sample of the work of the club, gave a few personal reminiscences of his earlier days, and expressed his gratitude to it for its sample of the work of the club, gave a few personal reminiscences of his earlier days, and expressed his gratitude to it for its work for him. The Rev. A. A. Miner, D. D., emphasized the necessity of total abstinence in spite of college boards, fashionable clubs and the sneering press. "There is not a man that drinks who does not know it is wrong." A poem was read by Mr. James Russell, and addresses were made by Hon. Neal Dow and several delegates from visiting clubs. The attendance at the church numbered more than five hundred.

High School Exhibition.—The high school exhibition took place in Lyceum hall on Friday afternoon at three o'clock. The graduating class was five in number: Celista Alice Cutting, Mabel Louise Fowier, Mary Dale Richardson, Jennie Pierce Robinson, in the regular course, and Abigail Lydia Meade in the classical course. The class motto, "Vincit, qui se vincit," was displayed upon the wall in the rear of the platform. There was a tasteful arrangement of flowers on the platform itself. The principal, Mr. C. L. Harrington, conducted the exercises, which were satisfactory to the large audience which nearly filled the hall. All would have been very successful but for the proximity to the railroad, the rumble and puffing of whose trains interrupted or completely extinguished some of the voices of the speakers. This was not due to any want of distinct and loud utterance on the part of the pupils, for they deserve especial praise for their elocution which contrasted favorably with that of graduates in past years. The recitation in physics met with especial tavor from all present, and all the experiments were successful. The program was as follows:

A MISTAKE CORRECTED. — Some having supposed that the chairman of the school board acted without consultation with the members of the board in regard to the recent reunion, it should be known that such was not the case, and in accordance with this fact at the last meeting of the board the following resolution was unanimously adopted for the sake of justice and for the information of the public:

Resolved: That the position taken by the chairman of the committee with the last graduated class and the control of the condition of the chool that the school as a school should not be included in the school that the school as a school should not be included in the school as a school should not be included in the school as a school should not be included in the school as a school should occur, has the concurrence and approval of this board.

should occur, has the concurrence and approval of this board.

No members of the board have any desire to interfere with private taste in regard to dancing or anything else, but they are unanimous in insisting upon the absolute neutrality of our public schools in all matters outside of their legitimate work. It is due to the principal of the high school to state that he cordially yielded to the judgment of the committee in this decision.

HIGH SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.—At the evening soirce of the grad-atting class of the high school there was a large attendance of present and past members of the school, some being present from the class of '53 and from that forward. An organization of an association was effected with Henry A. Emerson as president and C. A. Conant as secretary. Mr. Andrew Woods, Miss Isabella Tenney, and Mrs. John D. Twombley were appointed a committee to draft suitable by-laws and the meeting adjourned subject to call.

5.40 train which runs to Winchester without stopping.

Court.—Margaret Cullen was before the court on Saturday charged with threatening an assault upon Bridget Moran. The evidence for the government and for the defence was unusually alike, and she was adjudged guilty and ordered to pay the costs of prosecution and recognize in 8200 to keep the peace for six months. She appealed to the October term at Lowell, but subsequently desired to retract her appeal and comply with the sentence. She could get no surety and was committed to jail on her appeal in default of $300 bonds. This woman has given considerable complaint in times past.

PHIGRIMAGE.—Several Winchester Sir Knights accompanied the Boston commandery to the Isle of Shoals, returning late on Friday evening. Their reports of the excursion are very favorable, though Sir Knight Cook does not approve of the bed springs at the Oceanic house. All returned in good order, considerably sun-burned.

FAIR.—Two young girls connected with the Unitarian Sunday school held a little fair on Saturday afternoon and evening and netted four dollars, which is to be put at the disposal of Rev. Mr. Metcalf for charity. A good example for others to follow.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN.

A good example for others to follow.

The Lowell railroad, not content with its double track of eight miles beiween Winchester and Boston, is obliged to have its Woburn trains meet on the branch at Cross street, the outward trains running on to the ice track and then backing down again, and going to Woburn. We don't pretend to know how to run a railroad, out this seems entirely an unneccessary risk.

Progress in Palestine. BY REV. DANIEL MARCH, D. D.

Trave just returned from a thirty days the rare advantage or going in company with one of our American missionaries who with the rare than the state of the state

In this last visit to the Holy Land I must needs make constant comparisons between what I saw there ten years ago and what passed under my eye last April and May. I am happy to report that there are signs of progress even in Palestine. If one stands ten years in the same place to observe, he will see that the old East moves, and the motion is with the sun toward the West. Or if one goes back after ten years' absence he will not find everything just as he left it. The people have learned to ask what lies beyond the setting sun. Ten years ago I could not get an Arab to manifest the slightest curiosity about America. Two months ago in Lebanon and Galilee and Samaria and Judea I was answering a multitude of intelligent questions about the months ago in Leoanon and Galilee and Samaria and Judea I was answering a multitude of intelligent questions about the distance and size and productions and occupation and people of this great land of the West. Ten years ago the statement in Murray's Hand-Book that not more than one-tenth of the plain of Esdraelon is cultivated was substantially true. Last April I rode many miles on the great battle-field of Palestine, both at the east under Gilbon, and at the west under Carmel, and it seemed to the eye one unbroken expanse of wheat and barley waving in every direction. Ten years ago we did not question the repeated statements of the Hand-Book about the plain of Sharon and Akka, that "desolation reigns," and "danger attends the steps of the traveler wherever he goes." Two months ago, in the same places we saw vast fields of grain growing, large herds of cattle grazing, the people received us with great cordiality, and we spent hours, morning and evening, at our tent door, asking and answering questions about their country and ours.

evening, at our tent door, asking and answering questions about their country and ours.

This improvement is not due to anything that the government has done for the protection of the people. The government was so bad ten years ago that it would take more enterprise in wickedness than Turkish officials generally have to make it worse. Nor are the signs of progress due in any appreciable degree to the return of Jews, or the coming of emigrants from any quarter, or to any supposed purchase of the country by the Rothschilds or by anybody else. A large part of the Esdraelon at the east has come into the possession of a man who has wealth and wit enough to stand between the people and the government. They pay him a percentage of their produce. He protects them from the extortions of the dix-gatherer. He gets rich, the laborers get their living, and both are content. The same arrangement exists in reference to large portions of wheat-growing country about Baka and the northerly part of the plain of Sharon. Muslims came to our tent often to talk about their affairs. They said with great carnestness they wished Christians would come from England and Aquerica and get control of the whole land in some such way so as to protect the people against the extortion of the government. Muslims, Greeks, Syrians, Maronites, Druses, Metawileh, Protestants, all agree in denouncing the government. And the curses are loud and deep as eastern gutturals alone can give. If we take their word for it the Turkish rule is wicked and gutturals alone can give. If we take their word for it the Turkish rule is wicked and wasteful everywhere and to the utmost degree, and the old East will never come into the new life of the West until some strong hand put an end to Turkish extortion

A worthy representative of the very flower of our youth, who, taking their lives in their hands marched forth to do or die for their country. Comrade Merriam proved what might be expected of him, judging from his peaceful career at home, a conscientious, brave and faithful soldier. Beloved by all who knew him at home, he soon won the love and affection of his new associates in his new and unried affection of his new associates in his new and unried his superior officers. Kind and affectionate as a son, fraternal as a brother, generous and self-sacrificing as a comrade, brave and faithful as a soldier, he lived and died as became a good citizen, a faithful comrade and at true and loyal patriot. Comrade Stearns, then surgeon of the 22d, thus gave his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier his testimonial as to his worth as a comrade and soldier. ### A GOOD COOK.

Although, dear maid, thy beauty rare Would tempt a stoic soul to woo thee, 'Tis not alone that thou art fair That warms my loyal heart unto thee.

The brightness of thine azure eye,
The honeyed sweetness of thy kisses,
At Time's command, alas! will fly,
Mute in the wake of other blisses.

But when thy dear ears dim have grown, Thy golden locks with silver sprinkled, When age hath dulled thy voice's tone, And care that snowy brow hath wrinkled, Still love for thee my heart shall fill; The rose smells not less sweet for crumpling; And age shall find thee able still To make me steak and kidacy dumpling.

The other day a lady, accompanied by her son, a very small boy, boarded a train at Little Rock. The woman had a careworn expression hanging over her face like a tattered veil, and many of the rapid questions asked by the boy were answered by unconscious sighs.

"Ma," said the boy, "that man's like a baby, ain't he?" pointing to a bald-headed man sitting just in front of them.

"Hush."

"Why must I hush?"

After a few moments' silence: "Ma,

After a few moments' silence: "Ma, hat's the matter with that man's head?"

"Hush, I tell you. He's bald."

"What's bald?"

"His bad."

"His head hasn't got any hair on it."
"Did it come off?"

I guess so."
Will mine come off?"

"Yes."
"Yes."
"Will you care?"
"Don't ask so many questions."
"Don't ask so many questions."
After another silence the boy exclaimed;

The woman blushed, stammered out something, and attempted to smooth back the boy's hair.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which s at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair The Vigor is incomparable. It is colornot soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

The Paper World, published at Holyoke and conducted by Mr. Clark W. Bryan, we regard as unquestionably the best of all the trade journals that come to our table. It is beautifully printed in a most convient size, and there is not a line most convient size, and there is not interesting the first product of the sale of cigars, tobacco, confectionary, etc.

The census enumerators have revised their lists, and foot up the population of the or dealers in paper.

WE DO NOT BELIEVE in blowing one's own horn too much, but when a paper of the high standing and character of the Boston Journal of Commerce says that Boston Journal of Commerce says that "The Women's Journal, since its change of management, has improved wonderfully, and it is one of the cleverest sheets that comes to us," we think we may be excused for quoting the remark.

WILL SOME OF THE NEWSPAPERS, that are now devoting so much space to the discussion of the personal character and public acts of the candidates for president and vice-president, be so kind as to set forth the exact and vital points of differforth the exact and vital points of difference between the two great political parties? There are some voters, and we are among the number, who do not make politics enough of a business to follow out all the ramifications of the political web conductors and more possible of the political web conductors and more possible of the political web conductors. Our reasons are not such as will avail to convince our neighbor, who belongs to the opposite party, of the error of his ways and convert him to our faith. Will some of our political contempories let a little light on our political darkness, and make straight appearance. crooked pathway to the ballot box?
have asked politicians and got no afort. We have thought the matter over after every press-day, but we still grope in the dark.

THE HERALD truly says that Massachusetts has "struck a streak of small men whose chief anxiety is to get elected" in her delegation to congress, and it should be the aim of every district to endeavor to raise the standard at the election this fall. The custom of nominating men for congress and other high offices simply because they want the office and may have done the disagreeable work of the party they belong to for a long time ought to be given up. There are plenty of men in gressional district who would not only fill the office acceptably but would do honor to it and to their constituency for electing them. Why not send them to congress? The republicans of the fifth district have an opportunity to set the example by nominating a man to succeed Mr. Bowman who has the capacity to rise to the full dignity of the position; and as such an one we suggest the name of Henry Cabot Lodge of Nahant, or rather second the suggestion already made. Mr. Lodge is a thoroughly educated and level-headed young man who would do himself and the district honor. He is an independent re-publican in the best sense of the term, representing the best, broadest, wisest and cleanest wing of the party—just the sort that must be elected to represent it if it is surpring to do or say about it with a sensitive horror born of the disgust they have been filled with by some charlatan who in the name of temperance has paraded his ignorance and inordinate self-esteem before a long-suffering and grossly misused public. The cause has suffered from the amprincipled leeches and conceited prigs who have attached themselves to its white skirts and smirched them until many honeast people have come to think the fabric addirty shoddy. They do not get quite close enough to see that the color is the result of the contaminating touch of dirty hands and not the fault. who lives on that street.

dirty shoddy. They do not get quite close enough to see that the color is the result of the contaminating touch of dirty hands, and not the fault of the fabric. There is no doubt that the impolitic management refreshments were served. toward a more successful temperance campaign must be taken by its advocates now in the field. They must order all bummers to the rear, and place the management of their affairs in more capable hands. Business principles must be observed. There are no different conditions appertaining to the success of a temperance campaign than to the conducting of a grocery store—though this fact seems to be one that temperance people are determined not to learn. The success of an author to be one that temperance and visable acts, and his character and ability of its leaders. A man's reputation depends mainly upon his outward appearance and visable acts, and his character upon the motives of his heart. The character of the temperance reform is all right—it is as white as snow, but its reputation is not what it ought to be, nor what it may easily be made. There is now hovering in the air a premonition of a temperance revival. People are getting heartly sick of the reign of beer, and it is evident that a move has only to be made in the right direction to secure a great following and enthusiastic support. The tast were displayed and residue the formal and the completed to put in a system of the machine to the telegraphing instrument in the text office. The many friends in Woburn of Mr.

People are getting heartily sick of the reign of beer, and it is evident that a move has only to be made in the right direction to secure a great following and enthusiastic support. The taste Woburn has had of license is all its people want. Under the old regime drunkenness was to be seen frequently enough, but it was not so disgustingly plentiful as now. It requires no elaborate investigation, or searching of police records to convice any one who is about town that the number of drunken men seen on the street is greatly in excessiof the number previous to May 1, and that the filmsy argument that license rule would reduce drunkenness has been most completely refuted. What is to be done? Clearly the first thing to do is for the temperance people to organize and prepare for war—not the kind of war waged by loud-mouthed and beeryfaced orators—but the kind where a well-diciplined force holds itself in readiness to strike a blow whenever and wherever it will tell for the banner they fight under the kind of a war where soldiers enlist for life and for love of the cause, who will put their best men in command, and who can "bide a wee, and dinna weary."

Neal Dow in Woburn,

Neal Dow in Woburn.

The great apostle of temperance whose name stands at the head of this paragraph, lectured in the gospel tent on Meeting-house hill last week Friday evening. The tent was filled to its utmost capacity, notwithstanding the weather was threatening and a rain momentarily expected. The lecture was, as was to be expected, a good one, though some were disappointed in not finding Mr. Dow to be a brilliant and showy orator. With what he said regarding temperance there could not be much fault found, unless indeed one were to question the expediency of virtue itself. The arguments used were such as could not be refuted, and the way of putting them was exceedingly taking. Mr. Dow's style is not "florid" or brilliant; but when you go away from his lecture you of putting them was exceedingly taking. Mr. Dow's style is not "florid" or brilliant; but when you go away from his lecture you do not experience any of that feeling of stepping down from an exalted height many speakers give you. You rather find that you have been given some exceeding hard nuts to crack, and material for study and thought. In listening to Mr. Dow's lecture, and in an hour's chat with him, much of the secret of his power and popularity in Maine was revealed to us. He is simply natural and in earnest; very much of a gentleman, never vexing his hearers with vituperation, but dealing out undeniable facts and irrefutable arguments. He is a white-haired, keen-eyed, pleasant-voiced gentleman, with an accurate and cyclopædic memory. He uses the best of language, is polite and gentle to every one, and possesses great tact. He is a charming man to meet, and just now, when the few temperance votes that will be cast this fall will be purely conscience votes and have no weight in determining the struggle for the presidency, the best standard JOURNAL readers.

Improvements at the Depot.

The improvements in the interior arrangement of the depot mentioned last week are to consist of the moving of the ticket and freight office back into the rotunda that is now entered from the street. The large double outside door will be converted into a window, and ticket windows made to open into the waiting rooms and the rotunda to be formed of the present ticket room. Doors opening into the gentlemen's and ladies' waiting rooms will be cut through from the outside of the building. The present ticket office will be converted into a rotunda with large swinging doors opening into the train room. These changes will be a great improvement, and will be thoroughly appreciated by Station Agent Wood and his assistants. The change from the present cramped and illy-entilated quarters to the light, airy and more commodious room the new arrangement will furnish will greatly facilitate the transaction of the business of the office, and be conducive to the health and comfort of its occupants.

Temperance Lecture.

Mr. John R. Murphy, of the Boston Pilot, lectured before the St. Charles total abstinence society, at the vestry of the Catholic church last evening. He showed the progress of the cause during the fifty years last passed, calling Father Matthew the father of temperance; advocated moral sussion as a means to accomplish the desired end of abstinence from drink; spoke in glowing terms of the influence of women in the cause; alluded to the farce of example, and argued that since the way was beset with danger the only safe course to be pursued is the sure one of total abstinence in its strictest sense. There was a good audience in attendance, and the lecture was fully worthy the good attention paid to the words of the speaker. The lecturer was introduced by Rev. M. D. Murphy with a few appropriate remarks.

Brigade Re-union.

The brigade formerly commanded by Gen. Thomas G. Stevenson, attached to Gen. Wessell's division of the 18th corps, and comprising the 10th Conn., 5th R. I., 2tth and 4th Mass., and Belger's R. I. Battery, will hold a re-union and clam-bake at Rocky Point, R. I., on Friday, July 30. These re-unions are always pleasant and a cordial invitation is extended to all old comrades of the brigade. The comrades have become so widely scattered since the war that the addresses of many are unknown, but any one who has not received a circular can obtain full information by addressing Mr. Charles E. Douglass, 107 Brook St., Providence, R. I.; Mr. James B. Gardner, 3 Centre St., Roxbury (Boston); Mr. John C. Cook, 35 Congress St., Roston; or Mr. D. L. Durand, Waterbury, Conn. and 44th Mass., and Belger's R. I. Battery, will hold a re-union and clam-bake at Rocky Point, R. I., on Friday, July 30. These re-unions are always pleasant and a cordial invitation is extended to all old compades of the brigade. The comrades have become so widely scattered since the warthat the addresses of many are unknown, but any one who has not received a circular can obtain full information by addressing Mr. Charles E. "What would our forefathers say" could they see the luxurious accommodations provided by the management of the Boston and Hingham Steamboat Co. to the patrons of their boats. A sail down the bay is one of Boston's institutions, and is appreciated by the people of the suburban towns; they go by the thousands down the harbor on these boats in one day. THE LACK OF ADVERTISING IS ONE OF THE CHIEF CAUSES OF BUSINESS FAILURES. THERE ARE BUSI-NESS MEN WHO DON'T UNDERSTAND THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING. THEY DO NOT SEE THE DIRECT CON-NECTION BETWEEN ADVERTISING AND THE ENTRANCE OF A CUSTOMER, OR THE DEMAND FOR ANY PAR-TICULAR ARTICLE. THEY, ALSO, WITH SELF-IMPORT-ANCE WHICH IS AMUSING, FANCY THEIR BUSINESSES ARE KNOWN TO THE WHOLE COMMUNITY, CHANGING AS THAT COMMUNITY IS TO AN EXTENT WHICH THEY HAVE NO CONCEPTION OF. THE PRINCIPLE UPON WHICH BUSINESS MEN SHOULD ACT IS, ADVERTISE, AND ADVERTISE THE TRUTH. IF YOU HAVE A GOOD THING LET THE PEOPLE KNOW IT. FURTHERMORE, 2.20, 3.35, 5.00, 6.10, 7.10, 9.30 P. M. Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and towels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. Ayen's PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

Ayen's PILLS are an effectual cure for

The Moburn Journal

FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1880

Hancock is advised to keep his mouth shut and to throw his pen away.

"A WIFE," saith a staid exchange, "should be like roast lamb, tender and well dressed. No sauce required." Perhaps the tender and well dressed wife would prefer the receipt to read, "and served with no sauce."

THERE IS TALK among the republican of the tenth district of running ex-Gov Alexander H. Bullock for Congress in Place of Hon. W. W. Rice. And ex-Gov.
A. H. Rice is talked of in the fourth district to run against Hon. Leopold Morse, the present incumbent.

GENERAL GARFIELD'S LETTER accept ing the republican nomination for the presidency has been sent to Senator Hoar, and published. It is a good letter, but we see nothing in it to warrant the apparent joy of the organs of one side nor the ers and flippancy of the other. It is a simple and intelligent statement of the position of the republican party upon national affairs, as headed by General Garfield. It is not the sure and only guaranty of peace, prosperity and unity of country some would have us believe: nor is it the death-warrant to everything justify the claims of some of the more enthusiastic of the party, and do not certainly rise above the ringing sentences Mr. Hayes gave us four years ago.

It was a powerful expose of the numerous reasons given for not being found in church on Sunday, and the comments of the preacher were not couched in language that would in any way destroy the meaning of his points. His treatment of the usual excuses offered by nothurch-goes was summary, and no mercy was shown them. This is well. The people who do not attend church should not be allowed to shield themselves behind such gauy excuses. If they do not believe in religion they should be forced take an honest stand, and show for just their true worth. But no amount of exposurers of filmsy excuses will gerve to compel or induce those who use them to attend church. They must be made aware of the great good coming to themselves A man will not cross the threshold of a church any the oftener because the grace and the grace and the commence of the grace and the quickened into active and aggressive life within them that it is good for them to do as they are not doing. Most of those who are seen at church less frequently than their more zealous neighbors think desirfund who would refuse to let a pretty girl able will fully agree that they would be benefitted by a more constant attendance, but the necessity of it does not come home to them with force enough to overcome the worthless excuses their reason con-demns, even while their tongues utter them. What is wanted is something that will convince people of the great benefit to themselves to be derived from a constant attendance upon divine worship. Their efforts to bull Bowman stock has not an exactly healthy appearance, and it looks very much as though they were mortally afraid it would drop far below par if they ceased shouting its merits for a moment. Mr. Bowman has doubtless the good will of about every republican in the district; but the ques-tion does not rest upon whether he is an honorable gentleman, but upon his fitness for the position of congressman as compared with the fitness of other available men. The names of several gentlemen have been mentioned from various sources, but we are not informed whether it has been with their own sanction or not There is doubtless an element which would shout lustily for the old banner-bearer of the district—General Banks— should the lucky side of the political whirligig by any chance turn toward him. But this is scarcely probable. General Lawrence of Medford would be a candidate who would go before the convention with no inconsiderable backing. The Hon, John Cummings of Woburn is recog-nized as the most formidable opponent Mr. Bowman would have, should he conclude to enter the lists, which is quite doubtful. It is understood that Mr. Cum mings is not inclined to push his canvass, but may give his influence in favor of Mr. Bowman, which would be a most favorable omen for the success of the latter gentle-But the man of all the others who on would reflect the greatest credit upon the voters of this district is without question Henry Cabot Lodge of Nahant: who though still a young man is bound before long to take high rank among the councillors of the state and nation, and at 6.15. councillors of the sooner the fifth district recognizes his merit the greater will be the future credit to it. He is an author of recognized ability, and an authority on historical matters, particularly those relating to New England. He is at present the chief editor of the International Review, which position he assumed in March, 1879; and we have the highest authority for stating that under his management that review has nearly quadrupled its circulation and has gained the reputation of being the leading American periodical of its class. The sympathies of Mr. Lodge are all with ost progressive portion of the repub-party. He is not at all anxious for omination, and it is not out of any particular liking for him that we would like to see him nominated; but because we believe that the particular kind of republicanism he is one of the best repre-sentatives of is the kind that is going to control the party in the near future, and we would like to have this district become a pioneer in the good work of regenerating and purifying the party. It is no doubt a bitter dose for the old line machine man agers to swallow-this reform kind of politics that is gaining such favor—but they must down with it, or see the reins of power pass to other hands.

A Fool's Errand.

The book with the title that heads this article has proved itself to be the greatest success of the times, in both a financial and literary sense. Its subject is one of the most interesting and least known about questions that presents itself for solution at this time—the southern question. Since the war the two sections of the country have been really more estranged and the inhabitants of each more truly foreigners to each other than have the most remote countries of the globe. Neither section understands or appreciates the other, and the drift of events, both political and social, has been rather to aggravate than, soothe,—to widen the breach that should be closed. This book narrates the experiences of an intelligent and somewhat enthusiastic young Union colonel who settled at the south soon after the close of the war. He was an ardent believer in the policy of reconstruction adopted by the government, and at once set himself at work to improve the negroes, by selling them small farms at low prices and on easy terms of payment and encouraging them to become small landed proprietors and prosperous farmers. In this he was bitterly opposed by the gentry and whole white population of the district, and the opposition was carried to the lengths of barbarity and intolerance so familiar to all northern readers of the papers of a few years ago. The Ku-Klux several the lengths of barbarity and intolerance so familiar to all northern readers of the papers of a few years ago. The Ku-Klux several times laid their plans to put the plucky Yankee colonel out of their way, but he was every time warned and escaped their clutches, until at last he became so well known at the porth as well as at the south that they decade.

until at last he became so well known at the north as well as at the south that they dared not molest him. They harassed him in almost every way conceivable, and completely frustated his philanthropic plans regarding the liberated slaves.

Regarded simply as a novel the book is one of thrilling interest, and could not fail to win for itself a high place and great success. But the light it sheds upon the vexed "southern question" raises it far above the value of a novel and places it among the most important books published since the rebellion. The intelligent reader is made to understand that the sentiment of the south—however much it may seem to him to be that rebellion. The intelligent reader is made to understand that the sentiment of the south—however much it may seem to him to be that of unadulterated barbarism—is at least an honest expression of inherited belief; that the people of that section truly believe themselves to have been very shabbily used, and that their modes of showing their convictions are the direct and unavoidable results of generations of slavery. People who have been bred from father to son in the belief that slavery is a "divine institution," and that the bodies of human beings are the lawful prey of their passions of revenge and hatred are not capable of treating any sort of opponents otherwise than brutally. The Ku-Klux Klan, rifle clubs, and other similar institutions of the south are but the logical and inevitable outcome of the years of slavery, and the people who tolerate and help them along are not to be blamed in the sense other criminals are blamed. Only the lapse of long years can eradicate the poison from the social system of the south; and only the strong arm of a determined government, backed by plenty of bayonets, can prevent the characteristic expression of the feelings and beliefs that are "bone of their bone, and flesh of their flesh."

So great has been the demand for "A Fool's Errand," that the publishers have issued an enlarged and illustrated edition, which is sold by subscription only. The enlargement is partly in the tale itself, which the author has revised very carefully and supplied with some new matter, more fully largement is partly in the tale itself, which the author has revised very carefully and supplied with some new matter, more fully completing its artistic proportions, but especially in the addition of Part II., entitled, "The Invisible Empire," containing thirteen intensely interesting chapters, which give a concise review of recent events at the south (showing the elements on which the tale is based), with many thrilling personal narratives and other facts, including also an account of the rise, extent, purpose, methods, disguises, secret oaths, and mysterious deeds of the Ku-Klux Klan. This town is now disguises, secret oaths, and mysterious deeds of the Ku-Klux Klap. This town is now being canvassed for the work by Mr. Fred B. ## Literature in Letters.

It is not often, nowever, that a writer who is preparing himself for the editorship of an important historical work shows such a thorough contempt for the language and methods of the schools as the author of the following letter. This document was found in a book in the library, and as it is addressed to a person well known in the field of American historical literature there can be no doubt of its genuineness. The name of the writer and his correspondent are suppressed, as neither of them know of its publication. But the letter is so unique in many ways it seems a pitv to withhold it from the

Literary and Musical Notes.

No 13 Rue Markot is the name of a Parisian story, translated from the French of Rene De Pont-Jest by Virginia Champlin and published by Lee & Shepard, Boston It is a story of a mysterious murder which baffles the incomparable detective force of France, but which is finally brought to light by a level-headed American. The story i very realistic and at the same time suggest the weirdness of a Poe, and is sure to hold the absorbed attention of the reader to the close.

The Popular Science Monthly had a somewhat remarkable origin. Prof. Youmans had persuaded Herbert Spencer to write the volume on "The Study of Sociology" for the international scientific series, and it had been arranged that the chapters should first appear serially in the Contemporary Review in London and in some American magazine. In accordance with this plan, the advance sheets were sold to The Galaxy, of New York. But the steamer bringing the first installment arrived too late, it was said, for publication at the time agreed on, and the bargain was off. In this dilemma Prof. Youmans suggested to W. H. Appleton the propriety of establishing a new scientific periodical. The latter at once fell in with the scheme, and Prof. Youmans went to work. A prospectus was issued, and copy, including the first chapter of the "Study of Sociology — Our Need of It"—given out to the printers; and in just thirteen days from the first conception of the project and two days before the issue of The Galaxy which was to have contained the delayed article, the first number of The Popular Science Monthly was published.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HYMNS AND MUSIC.-To SUNDAY SCHOOL HYMNS AND MUSIC.—Too much countenance has heretofore been given in the Sunday-school to "hymns" which are mere rhymes without reason, with here and there a dash of sweet sentimentalism in place of vigorous thought,—flippant in style and irreverent in expression, and set to tunes of little merit. Rev. Dr. Charles S. Robinson, the author of "Songs for the Sanctuary," rendered a valuable service to the churches when he added to his later work, "Spiritual Songs for the Church and Choir," a most excellent edition called "Spiritual Songs for Social Worship"; and now a continuation of the series is to be issued, "Spiritual Songs for the Sunday-school," by the same accomplished author, who has been assisted in the work by Mr. W. The American Book Exchange is doing yeoman's service in the work of bringing popular and useful standard books within the reach of all. Recognizing the fact that the cost of a book is governed by the number published and sold, they have issued very large editions of numberless books in a cheap and at the same time convenient and substantial form which they sell on very small margins, relying upon the immensed demand for their profits. Their books are printed on light but strong paper, with small clear type, and are bound both cheaply and well. Many books of reference published by this firm can be had for one-fourth the price of other editions and are exactly as good for all practical purposes. See the advertisement elsewhere.

"Wouldn't you like to have a bow?" said the bold young archer, as they sauntered down the field; and she murmured "Yes," and the absorbed archer said, "What kind of a bow would you prefer?" She quivered a little as she replied, archly, "I think I should prefer yew;" and then the young man took it in, and although he was an arrow-chested youth, he went to the target and heaved a buil's sigh.

The next "new thing" is likely to be glass type for newspaper printing! Experiments have just been made in Paris with glass type, and the result is said to have been very g successful. The type preserves its cleanness almost indefinitely; it is said to wear better than metal, and to maintain its sharpiness of outline longer.

"Ma," said an inquisitive little girl, "will rich and poor folks live together when they go to heaven?" "Yes, my dear, they will be all alike there." "Then, ma, why don't rich and poor christians associate together here?" The mother did not answer.

China is the great mart for the sale of this pernicious drug, says a writer in the New York Star. The sales there are enormous. India produces the poppy plant, from which opium is made, and derives so great a revenue from it that it is notorious that England, always careful of her commercial interests, went to war to force the drug upon the Chinese market. The Chinese have always been considered great opium eaters and smokers. In San Francisco there are numerour dens in the Chinese quarter where the pig-tailed Celestials adjourn to graatify their deprayed taste. But opium has invaded our own civilization. It stalks through our midst like a gigantic fiend, whose inroads defy the efforts of humanitarians to check it. Not only men, but women, are victims of this awful vice. The drug may be taken in various ways. A little laudanum is bought to soothe the toothache or deaden the pangs of neurslgia. A few drops are indulged in at first. The effect is so gratifying that the doses are increased until laudanum; is a necessity, and no sleep can be had without it. Some people use the hyperdermic injection of morphine for some real or fancied till, and afterwards cannot get rest for their, nerves unless the delicate needle-like syringo punctures the skin and distills the deadly but pleasing poison through their veins. Who, without having gone through the degrading process, shall venture to depict the transcendental fancies of the sublimated mind, raised far beyond worldly cares and surroudings for the time being! Ah, well: we will not envy the poor wretch his fleeting bils, for the horrible awakening offsets any amount of ravishing sensations. With aching head, jaded stomach, enfeebled mind and claspair, the burlesque of a corpse, a caricature on humanity, which even death, the great avenger, seems for a while to despise. In this state of blear-eyed, haggard, nervous, in the deferming men who rival those which general extension who rival those which geople a Mohammedan paradise, magnificent in andscapes and those nameless

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duy willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA t works like magic, reaching every p ne human body through the blood, giv all renewed life and energy.

THE BEST REMEDY

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. Aver's Cherry Perforat, is such a remedy, and no others or minently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the public. It is a scientific combination of the public. It is a scientific combination of the public in the property of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of Aver's Cherry Pectonal ty preserved from serious lilness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures, or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to deceive and disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and experimenting with unknown and active and experimenting with unknown and active and experimenting with unknown and active and seed the proposition prescribe it in their proposition contained with, hecome deeply seated or incurable. DANIEL PRATT, the Great American Traveler, must look well to his laurels or they will be stolen to adorn the brow of ral Weaver, the greenback candidate for the presidency.

WILL THE LYNN ITEM be so kind as to quote enough of our political articles to fairly represent our opinions, if it quotes anything at all? We do not like to have a dozen lines that make us say just what we do not mean clipped from the middle of an article and the rest impred. Fair of an article and the rest ignored. Fair play is a jewel, brother.

THERE IS NOTHING to be urged against Mr. Bowman, say his supporters, to war-rant a departure from "the usage that gives a member of congress at least two terms." That is not the question to be considered at all. If there is a better man than Mr. Bowman available that is reason enough for not running that gentleman a second time. The idea that the "usage which gives a member of congress at least two terms" should be considered a valid argument to use in any man's favor is prepos-terous, and the party paying the least attention to it ought to be soundly beaten as often as it takes so feeble a stand. The man to send to congress is the best man available. The vealy sentinent about "dying a yearling" is the weakest thing said for Mr. Bowman yet, and the Lowell Journal is the paper that says it. The Journal had better bend its energies to the consideration of the affairs of its own district, and not worry about the mis-

THE CAMPAIGN was! opened on the republican side by Carl Schurz at Indianapolis Tuesday night, who made a speech alike creditable to the cause and the well known bredth and liberality of the secretary's views. We have no room for an extended notice of the speech, but cannot forbear quoting one brief paragraph re-specting the democratic party: "To speak in all candor, it appears to me that the democratic party labors under historic as well as constitutional difficulties. Since the downfall and disappearance of the slave power as a compact political interest. which the democratic party, more than twenty years ago, derived its morals, its logic, its political skill and statesman-ship, that party has been floundering about out of logical connection with the questions of the day; never knowing the time of day; always looking for some-thing to turn up, and when something did turn up, spoiling it; lamely lagging in the rear of the events and requirements of the day; always behind; denouncing as impossible things that were already accomplished facts; with a strange incapa eity to understand the present and to measure the future, making itself the recipient and rallying point for all dangerous and obstructive tendencies and ele ments, and thus committing blunder after blunder which at the moment of their birth it uniformly gloried in as great strokes of policy, from the secession novement in 1861 down to the nomination ances rife. There may be certain localities where the newer comers into town are wont to exhibit the traits of character which in other places they have been used to exercise. But take older settled parts of that district and no better class of clitzens can be found. Quiet, industry and temperance are prevailing virtues, and crime is the exception. One who has lived on Oak street since it was first built upon, frequently has expressed his opinion that it is one of the best places in town to live. The soil is dry and the air is healthful and invigorating and his slumbers are never disturbed by any untimely or boisterous noises. Having occasion to pass through the centre of the town in the evening we have found it of late more rowdyish than any part of the Plains.

There are campers-out on the island in Mystic lake. They have chosen a sightly spot on the sontheast side.

The shoot between the Pine Hill club and the West Medford gunners comes off on Saturday afternoon at West Medford. Both sides are anxious.

Archery is still the favorite sport for the ladies.

Nantasket beach has had its share of visitors from Winchester this week.

Criminal business is not active.

If the summer residents wish to take a regular country drive, let them go up Forest street and turn off to the left just before reaching the town line, taking the back road which comes out near East Woburn. It is just back-woodsy.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it elings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.
The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching and enrichcutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

MESSRS, C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to railly room lefter, and she could not seem to railly room lefter, and she could not seem to railly room lefter. The could not seem to railly room lefter to be had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend Hoop's SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours, J. K. SMITH, 19 Butterfield Street.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

THE CURRENT number of the North American Review has a valuable article upon the Law of Newspaper Libel, which ought to be read by all political editors, and its salutary hints heeded. The conduct of political newspapers is getting to be altogether too near the verge of gross-ness or libel. The special aim seems to be to impregnate their readers with the idea that the candidate of the other side is as bad as he can well be and escape the cus-tody of a lunatic asylum or a state prison But very slight regard is paid to the au thenticity of any report that tends to blacken his character or put him in a false position. This is all wrong, and this article shows that it is oftener within the scope of the criminal law than they imagine Mr. Proffatt, the author, has done a genu ine piece of good work in the writing of the article, and the Review is entitled to the thanks of all newpaperdom for its

HENRY CABOT LODGE made his first speech from the stump at Nahant Friday evening, on the occasion of the raising of a republican campaign flag. It was a clear and succinct statement of the republican position, and had about it just the kind of ring to be expected from Mr. Lodge. After an historical introduction he re marked that "the federalist party could not live on its past; the whig party couldn't live on its past, and the republican party cannot. To the young men of to-day its struggles, history and the days of the war are but little more than a tradition." He also declared that it was the independent voters who hold the fate of parties in their hands, and that they were the element that must be satisfied as to the intentions and capacity of the rivals for the suffrages of the people. "They will see on one side a man whose opinions are perfectly well known, on the other a man whose opinions are unknown; on the one side a party that saved the country, on the other a party that encouraged its destruction; on the one side a party that accomplished resumption, on the other a party that declared resumption a failure."

THAT POLITICAL MATTERS in the fifth district are getting somewhat hotter than the weather, is owing solely to the extraordinary tactics pursued by a few very injudicious friends of Mr. Bowman, who are laboring under the delusion that they hollow of their hands and have only to assure their chief that the district is his to make it so. Mr. Bowman also seems to have become a willing convert to the same deluding doctrine, to judge by some of his.

—— There is a contract to the wagon.

—— There is a con deluding doctrine, to judge by some of his movements. The Lynn city committee has formally indorsed the congressman and declared in his favor for a second term, only to have its action vetoed and term, only to have its action vetoed and nullified by the popular voice. The Somerville city committee has also indorsed Mr. Bowman, though what for it neglects to state. We hear also that Woburn is promised to support the present incumbent of the office by a gentleman the sum of whose influence is represented by one vote. Indeed the Bowman men seem to be at their wits end to provide against the disagreeable contingency of their candivote. Indeed the Bowman men seem to be at their wits end to provide against the disagreeable contingency of their candidate being left out in the cold by the voters of the district, and it is noticeable that the means employed by them are such as are usually used only as a last resort to move public opinion just before voting time. Why do not the Bowman men tell us something about the qualifications of their candidate for the office? Why do their candidate for the office? Why do they not give us some of his points of superiority over the other gentlemen named in connection with the office? They have said that Mr. Bowman answered their letters promptly, and they have made up their minds to return him to congress. That is the substance of his good qualities, if we are to look to these gentlemen who are so prematurely active in his behalf for a correct estimate of the most of the company of the state militia at the present time.

Some further speech-making was had here, Mr. Cummings and Mr. Robson, grand secretary of the order, supplemented the excellent supper prepared by Landlord Hammond of the Central house with brief remarks.

Accident.

Hon. John Cummings met with a painful accident while driving in Cambridge Monday. He was approaching the bridge, his horses (a powerful pair of young and high-spirited of nos.) were frightened by the sudden blowing of the hoarse voice of the the drawbridge whistle, and becoming unmanageable ran across the bridge, striking another carriage and throwing Mr. Cummings out, and finally throwing themselves down after running a short distance. Mr. Cummings received a scalp wound and one of his shoulders was dislocated by the fall, but happily he was not as seriously hurt as was at first anticipated. He was taken to the Tremont house, and received every attention and care that was necessary. One of the horses, we understand, received injuries that necessitated his being killed. The news of accident caused considerable excitement in town when it was received on Monday, and enquiries as to the extent of the injuries received by Mr. Cummings and his condition formed the principal theme for conversation Monday evening and Tuesday morning, showing how closely and thoroughly he is connected with the whole town and its people.

The How of It. The How of It.

It seems, according to the theories and demonstrations of the savants, that we are now passing through a crisis in atmospheric conditions, and that the cold air waves which have so strangely alternated with burning heats in our weather experiences of late, need not much longer be looked for this season. Their cause is attributed to the action of heat upon the great ice-masses in the Arctic and mountain regions, whereby rapid liquefaction has taken place, and chilling winds sent southward and eastward, strongly contrasting with the torrid atmosphere. The liquefying process in the ice regions ceases with the incoming of July, and is, therefore, done with for the present year; but the heat accumulation of the temperate zones does not reach the maximum until July 25, consequently the advent of decrease way he accompanied by another dog days may be accompanied by another

I think Miss Clark cried a little for joy as she knelt beside her low white bed in her pretty room, and instead of uttering any spoken prayer, saying simply, in a prayerful spirit, "I shall see him again!" But experience had taught her better than to admit one stray gleam of hope into her yearning heart.

She was in the back parlor telling the children a story, when Mr. Bronson entered the high, handsome rooms with his jolly, bustling host. Too much the man of society to fail of saying the right thing when he was presented to Mrs. Sturtevant, he was still looking for the quiet maiden, whom he had almost begun to think of as a creature of fancy.

First you take and warm the teapot, Let the water boiling be. That's a most important secret, And see you do not spare the tea.

Put it on the hob to draw it

For some minutes—two or three—
Then fill up and shake and pour it,
And bless the man who found out tea.

When the indulgent mother calleth her son she and in high soprano notes screameth, "Charlie-ee! Charlie-ee!" But Charlie cometh not, nor doth he give the sound a thought, but goeth about the business of his play. But when his sire, enraged at the dilatory motions of his offspring, calleth quickly and sharply, "Charles Frederick!" Charles Frederick hustleth homeward with alacrity, merely stopping by the way to insert the cover of his best spelling book where it will do the most good.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for pre-serving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair The Vigor is incomparable. It is color-less, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

MR. Archibald Forbes, the great English

THE QUINCY temperance agitator, Mr H. H. Faxon, has issued a list of the members of the last legislature alpha-betically arranged, and against every man's name is some sign to indicate his standing on the temperance and kindred questions. The document is issued from the temperance republican headquarters, and is doubtless intended as the first gun, from Mr. Faxon's fort, in the battle this

AFTER THIS ISSUE THE JOURNAL passes into the hands of Mr. George Λ. Hobbs, and the proprietors for the past four months cease to have any interest in it. We take pleasure in vacating the editorial chair in favor of so able and experienced a successor, and bespeak for him a contin uance of the kindness and favors that have been so freely rendered us. Mr. French goes to New York to fill a position in one of the great publishing houses there, while Mr. Andrews will remain in

The effort to make fictitious campaign capital out of the matter of the appoint ment of a cadet to West Point at about the time Bowman took his seat in congress is not of much account, and will not be o considered by thoughtful voters. By their own admission the Bowman mana-gers knew that Banks was to appoint young Bacheller, and it seems only an act of simple justice to the boy that Bowman of simple justice to the boy that Bowlian should not take advantage of Banks's blundering and appoint somebody else. The Bacheller boy on his part had passed the examination and was fairly entitled to the cadetship, and Mr. Bowman ought to have risen just that little above the level of a ward politician requisite to the doing this little act of justice. But the whole matter is not deserving the words already wasted upon it. There are many weightier subjects to consider in connection with the congressional succession.

DR. TANNER'S FAST may be of some little benefit to the country if it induces Americans to believe that they can live without stuffing themselves in the way many of them do. We as a people have much to overcome yet before we can hope to be a healthful race. We have not yet become acclimated. We are a nervous, sickly people, and if anything will induce us to pay some little attention to what we eat, how we eat and when we eat, that must be reckoned as a public benefaction. Tauner's fast shows that there is virtue in pure water, and if we would substitute it for the vast array of nostrums and quack medicines that cumber our medicine closets the race would gain by the change.

Tanner is doubtless a fool for understale. to perform so extraordinary and unnatural a feat as that of fasting forty days, but out of the most egregious folly men may sually get some modicum of wisdom that intended to defend itself against our charge of unfairness in quoting from the Journal's article, but which utterly fails of doing so, the Lynn Item says:

We confess that we are unable to determine by reading the Jounnal's political articles what its opinions are, except that it wants Mr. Lodge to go to congress. The editor is new to the fifth district, and is neither acquainted with his representative in congress nor familiar with his qualifications for the office, or his record. It is his privilege to support Mr. Lodge, a gentleman whom we hold in high esteem, and nothing can prevent the style of comment the Jounnal has been lately bestowing on Mr. Bowman, but it would be more like fair play if the editor would inform himself sufficiently in regard to his representative to know whether he has even done anything in congress; whether he has represented his constituents while there; whether he is a man of education acquired in our best university and in foreign travel; whether he has had legislative experience; whether he can make a speech; whether he understands political economy; whether he has sound views on finance and tariff; whether, in short, he has ability to do what his official position demands of him, and has done it or not. Let us have fair play, by all means, and those of us who most feel the need of it be careful to accord it.

do what his official position demands of him, and has done it or not. Let us have fair play, by all means, and those of us who most feel the need of it be careful to accord it.

Although this is entirely foreign to the matter in hand, it has in it one or two suggestions which we cannot refuse to profit by. The writer is entirely right in saying that "nothing can prevent the style of comment the Journal has been bestowing on Mr. Bowman," mainly because that comment has been fair and gentlemanly at all times, and never a word or a line of it derogatory to Mr. Bowman in any way. We have simply asked the voters of the district to consider whether he was the best man available for them to send to congress, and not accept him because he was thrust upon them by a half-dozen second-rate politicians, after a semiseeret conference of which the work was the less than a variable to be substituted.

Extracts FROM A PUNYATE LETTER FROM AN OBSERVING WORLEN BOY.

After a very pleasant visit in Hamilton, Ohio, I left there on Wednesday 14th inst., about 4 p. m. for Niagara Falls. Went to Toledo via the Dayton & Michigan railroad, arriving there about 10.45 p. m., and took a sleeper over the Canada Southern for the Falls. Arrived at the latter place about 7.30 a. m., crossed over to the American side, and went to the Cataract house. After breakfast I started out to see the sights. First went over to Goat island, where I had a fine view of the American and Horseshoe falls, and also fine views of the rapids above the falls. Also visited Luna island, the Three Sisters, and went down and looked under the American fall, or at what is called the Cave of the Winds. The Three Sisters are three little islands lying out in the rapids near the head of Goat island, and are connected to it and to each other by three small suspension bridges. After having seen everything on that side of the river I moved over to the Clifton house on the Canada side. There is but little to be seen from the Cataract house, while from the Clifton a fine view may be had of both the falls.

I could not get my trunk checked through from Hamilon to Niagara, so at Toledo I had it re-checked, but they made a mistake and sent it over the N. Y. Central, so I found it on the American side. Sent it across on the hotel coach, and when I got to the hotel the trunk was standing on the piazza. A customs officer stepped up and asked, "Is that your trunk?" Then "What does it contain?" "Do you intend to sell any of the articles?" After answering his questions he passed my

The party then repaired to a private supper room in the Ocean house, where they sat down to one of the celebrated fish suppers of the hotel, which was spiced with jovial talk of the rollers and vain attempts to get the postmaster to define his position on the question of candle-pins. It was found necessary to repair again to the alleys to settle the point in dispute and two games were rolled at straight pins with the following scores:

To. Brown is celebrated for his bowling propensities, but his night blooming cereus can beat him for it made a thirteen strike this week. The buds began to develope early Monday and Wednesday, and Thursday were at their best estate. The Dr. "asked his neighbors in" and they were delighted with the display, pronouncing it equal to the best they had ever seen of the kind.

Symmes' Corner.

This happy and favorably located neighborhood is growing as fast as any part of the town. A new house is about to be built on the east side of Main street adjoining the location of the old Stoneham branch, to be inhabited by another Symmes family. It may not be generally known that this locality is as near the Winchester centre depot as many part of what is generally regarded as the centre. Its having a special station at Mystic adds to its railroad facilities.

On a Strike.

Pursuant to the arrangements announced in last week's Journal, Dr. George P. Brown and the selectmen, Messrs. Albert Ayer, Warren Johnson and Charles H. Dunham, met the amateur four of Winchester at the Ocean house, Revere beach, on Friday afternoon. The news of the meeting had spread well over town and when the roll was called some seventeen men from our town responded. About three o'clock the rolling began and two straight games were won by the amateurs by the following score:

About 7.30 the party broke up and returned pleased with the trip to the quiet shades of Winchester. It is understood that Dr. Brown has hired the alleys now in the old depot building located on the estate of Hon. F. O. Prince, and intends to organize a club to develope that great skill in bowling which was shown at even the amateur playing at the beach. Any good citizens who desire to join can send in their names to the doctor at once, to secure charter membership.

THE MAINE CANVASS.

The political campaign in Maine is fully inaugurated and growing warmer daily. On Monday Senator Blaine set the ball rolling at Bath in a strong and eloquent address; in other localities eminent political orators are on the stump, and all along the line Republicans are stripping for the fight. They are confident and enthusiastic everywhere, and it is morally certain that victory will perch harm to anything but the victuals. on their standard in September "by a large majority." Maine Republicans are stalwarts all the way through. There are no "reformers," "independents," or assistent and the Sanday Herald a letter from Congressman Bowns mong them, and when they go in to win, with Blaine, Hale, Frye, Hall, and others in the van, they sweep the board. The Democrates and Greenbackers are less solidly united than they were last year, and will itail to show their last year's strength. Maine Republicans are stalwarts

The Republican party, realizing the portance of carrying the country by decisive majority in November, are every-where organizing for one of the warmest ampaigns that has been fought for years. The best interests, if not the existence, of the nation demand the defeat of the Demo cratic party, which is owned and controlled by the fire-eaters of the South, whose hos tility to the Union is as bitter to-day as when they were in the field fighting to destroy it, and earnestly and enthusiastically have Republicans set themselves at work to accon plish their overthrow at the next general election. That they will succeed hardly admits of a doubt. All the signs point that way. Intelligence from all quarters informs us that the Republicans are alive to their duties, that they are all at work with sleeves rolled up, and confident of victory at the They see clearly the danger of polls. allowing the rebel element of the South to get control of the government as they have

At the late Republican conference in New York, the matter of making a campaign in the South was a prominent topic for debate. The weight of argument was stump orators in the party into several of the Southern States, and make a struggle to carry them. Senator Blaine expressed the opinion that the best time for opening the campaign down there would be after Maine in September, and Indiana in October, have given in their emphatic verdicts in favor of Republican, and has small sympathy with in favor of sending a number of the best taken possession of the heads of many who | Southern States, and make a struggle to given in their emphatic verdicts in favor of weekly a full report of current local sayings Garfield and Arthur, from which date on to election day an aggressive war should be department reliable and interesting. And yet we are told that the ballotbox is as open and free in the South as at the North. The fact is, and everybody knows it, that there is no such thing as a free ballot south of Mason & Dixon's line—

The Boston Herald gives considera-Mr. Oakes Ames an honest man and upright ble attention to affairs in this Congressional citizen, on which, at one time at least, there was a diversity of opinion among the people candidate for whose success it is specially of this country. It is certain that several anxious, but it is quite apparent that Mr. Congressmen were summarily retired to Bowman is not a favorite, and that his defeat private life on account of their relationship in convention would be hailed by the Herald to Mr. Ames and his great railroad project, with more than ordinary manifestations of and more than one brilliant reputation blurr- delight. Of late, for a whole day at a ed and political aspiration cut down from stretch, that journal has been known to the same cause. And still Mr. Ames might have been an eminently honest man and clean-handed Congressman, and Credit Mobilier a worthy and commendable scheme.

A sense of duty often leads men to do things contrary to their inclinations.

The charges of "Tribuner" in ednesday's Traveller afford Mr. Lodge an excellent opportunity to rise and explain aging to the Nahant aspirant for Congres onal honors, and unless they are denied and proved untrue we are at loss to see how any genuine Republican can support him.

One of the best of the many inventions of the present time is James Pyle's "Pearline," of which it is said that it is the best washing compound yet introduced, and almost perfect as saving in labor, time, and soap.*

Lova and in the present is a mere patch of Uucle Sam's farm, but it has many acres under wheat, 3,227,000, as Great Britain, and produces half as many bushels, 55,000,000.

The Peabody fund at the beginning of the present year had grown from $2,500,000 to $3,500,000. The trustees in the present year had grown from $2,500,000 to $3,500,000.

Love and jealousy managed to get a pair of Woburn youths by the ears at Wakefield last week, and in the end one of them was muleted in the sum of $8.60 for letting his angry passions get the upper hands of him.

— Several of the leading Republicans of Woburn have kindly called on us at the Journal Latchstring is not only always out, but we are very glad indeed to meet in our office the good people of this pleasant and thrifty burg.

— Children's Day was properly observed by appropriate ceremonies at the Congregational church last Sabbath. A half hour in the morning was devoted to singing, chanting, and reading the scriptures, which were followed by an excellent sermon by the pastor, Dr. March. In the evening there was a Sunday school concert, which was very interesting.

pastor, Dr. March. In the evening there was a Sunday school concert, which was very interesting.

— Our Winchester reporter sends for the Journal a generous grist of important local news this week. By the way, the liberal citizens of that beautiful town ought to send us a club of a hundred subscribers to the Journal, and we expect they will do so when the pains we have taken to publish local intelligence from there becomes more fully appreciated.

— For the dearth of local intelligence in these columns this, and perhaps for a week or two to come, we crave the forbearance of our readers, promising that as soon as we get a good, square hang of "the new schoolhouse," they shall have no cause for complaint on that score. We are entire strangers to the good people of Woburn, and it will take a little time to learn the ropes, during which patience must be exercised in our behalf.

SOUTHERN' FREE SPEECH. The claim made by Democrats and here and there a Republican that the South is open to a free discussion of political ques-tions is not sustained by facts. The same opposition to speakers not of the Democratic stripe is met with now that has been current ever since "bayonet rule" was abolished, and not only so, but stumping in most of the Southern States is anything but a safe and agreeable busines.

Specimen bricks of Southern political tolerance have recently been shown which are conclusive as to the question of free speech down there. Mr. Weaver, the Greenback candidate for President, has just returned from an oratorical tour in the Gult States disgusted and disheartened. Instead of working up a Greenback boom and making some votes for himself the people would only not listen to him, but virtually drove him North with a large part of hi speeches undelivered. Mr. De La Martyr, a Greenbacker without guile, met with th same discouraging experience in his endeavors to convert the South to his flat the He was denied the right to talk and abandoned the field without making a convert No one who does not shout for Hancock and English stands the least show for a hearing among the chivalry of Dixie. Again, Mr Ramsdell, editor of the National View, the

John Cummings on the Howman-Lodge controversy along side of its own report of an interview with him held on the same day and leaves its readers to draw their own conclusions. The apparent discrepency between the statements of Mr. Cummings is due we think to the manner of interviewing rather than to any desire on his part to mislead. He is perfectly consistent, and his statements to the two papers are easily reconciled. If Mr. Bowman and Mr. Lodge occupied the same position—for instance, if their names we're now for the first time presented to the people for congress, Mr. Cummings would not hesitate to choose and cast the weight of his influence for Mr. Lodge, But Mr. Bowman record, however, needs an along leave to the people for congress, Mr. Cummings would not hesitate to choose and cast the weight of his influence for Mr. Lodge, But Mr. Bow man having served one term in a decently respectable way to say the least. Mr. Cummings believes him entitled to a renomination. Briefly, personal reference would not reliable the produced in the first term of congress, and any periculation. But as a sign of opposition, or a significant would be allowed to cool down and the discussion cases for the present. We are in clined to favor this view of the case, for it is a reasonable one. It is the opinion of those who ought to know that Wobarnis a Republican of this place where the control of th

The Representative from the Fifth District. The Representative from the FIfth District.

To the Editor of the World Durant.—It is a deplorable characteristic of the political warfare of the present time that candidates for public office are traduced in the most reckless and unscrupulous manner. Gross libels and caricatures of public men are ruthlessly made without any regard to the truth whatever. Political openents may naturally be expected to resort to these measures but not rivals within one's own party.

metruth whatever. Political openents may naturally be expected to resort to these measures but not rivals within one's own party.

In this manner, but not to this extent indeed, the Hon. S. Z. Bowman, the Representative from the Fifth District has been accused of incompetency, incapacity, want of experience and what not. Very likely this may be attributed to no personal hostility to Mr. Bowman, but simply to that obscurity of vision common to all office seekers who can not perceive any good in any man in their way. In any event in Mr. Bowman's case it shows an entire want of knowledge of his real merit, record and qualifications. Never was there a more preposterous charge. Mr. Bowman was graduated at Harvard University in 1860, at the early age of twenty. After graduating at the law school and practicing law in Boston, he was sent by the town of Somerville to the Legislature in 1871, which position he filled to the satisfaction of his constituents, and was re-elected in 1872. During the years 1872 and 1873 he held the office of city solicitor of Somerville, at the time of the organization of the city, when questions of unusual interest and moment arose. In 1874 he sought rest abroad, and on his return, retaining the good will of his constituents was again elected in 1875 to the House of Representatives. In 1876 he was elected to the Senate, and again in 1877, and was a leading candidate for President of the Senate in the latter year. He was always an active working member on committees, and was chairman of the committee on Hoosac Tunnel, and author of the famous Hoosac Tunnel Bill, which at the time was considered a very clever exhibition of legislative working member on committees, and was chairman of the committee on Hoosac Tunnel, and author of the famous Hoosac Tunnel Bill, which at the time was considered a very clever exhibition of legislative committees and managed cases involving large interests, with great energy and marked ability. Thus by education, practice and experience, according to the law of ci by education, practice and experience, ac-cording to the law of civil service reform, he became entitled, if any one, in the line of promotion to represent the Fifth District

Ramsdell, editor of the National View, It is great energy, and an experience, according to the law of civil service reform, and a Democrat by instinct and education, recently tried his hand at political speech making in the South. He went with confidence in the people and high phops of success. His reception was even more discouraging than that of Weaver and De La Martyr. In Mississipph he was met by the mob, warned to gather up his manuscripts, and leave the State as expeditiously as steam would carry him. He went without standing on the order of his going. It was go or the shot-gun, and he preferred the former.

These are samples of recent date, and are conclusive as to the fact that Northern orators, unless of the Democratic school, are objected to the speech on the stump in the South.

**REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL CON-The Republican Congressional Convention will be held at Charlestown on Thursday, September 16, at 11 o'clock, a. m. Referring to Wade Hampton's Staunton speech, the Springfield Union says: The sending out of this new and revised version indicates the Democratic conviction that it will not do to draw it too strong in identifying the Democracy of 1880 with the rebels of 1860, and that is a very significant sign of the times politically.

now. He said what he meant, and meant what he said, and that is what is kicking up the present commotion.

Hon. E. H. Gove, Secretary of State during the late Fusion regime in Maine, is out in a long letter, in which he opposes the Fusion programme for Presidential electors and candidates for Congress. He says that if the Greenbackers stand aloof from the Democratic party, this is its last national campaign, consequently to vote with it now is to step between it and death, which: "is unpatriotic and criminal," because it is time that "it should rest in the grave with its old allies, slavery and rebellion." Mr. Gove is an honest Greenbacker and fairly represents the Greenback sentiment of the First District. He will probably receive the the nomination for Congress in the district.

The political developments in the South the past few weeks are of a character to attract the attention and arouse the suspicions of the North, because they must convince the independent spectator that the average Democrat of that section retains all his bitterness toward the North and all his intolerance toward his political opponents that he had when the war closed, and what is vastly more important, that the Democratic leaders of the South are now determined to adopt the most desperate means to obtain that control over the Govesnment which the leaders of that section enjoyed for nearly fifty years prior to their Rebellion.—Boston

"HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE."

Mr. EDITOR:—In your last issue, I noticed an item from a Winchester correspondent, in which he says: "It seems the dissatisfaction with ice companies for their increase in price, has really some good foundation." Now let us see what sort of a foundation this assumed dissatisfaction really rests upon. In the year 1879 we reduced the retail price of ice from what it had been, and what it would have been that year had it not been us, from thirty-three to over fifty per cent. The crop cut in Woburn and Winchester last winter was very light; so that every one knew ice would be scarce and high. That was the reason we refused to take any more season and yearly customers than we could help, as that class must be served and are not subject to the rise and fall in prices, while the the cash and hundred customers are. They also can take as much or little as they choose, or leave at any time when they can do better. This last privilege they have exercised in more than twenty cases this season, and we have never thought of questioning their right to do so.

Drivers not unfrequently report that a cash or hundred customer has stopped taking, and gone to the other company, because he can do better in price; on the other hand customers come from the other company to us for the same reason. And let us ask right here if this is very much unlike other trades? All this is going on constantly, and yet it never occured to us to set up an implied contract to hold those customers who claim they can do better. If there is any yet it never occured to us to set up an implied contract to hold those customers who claim they can do better. If there is any yet it never occured to us to set up an implied contract to hold those customers who claim they can do better. If there is any yet it never occured to us to set up an implied contract to hold those customers who claim they can do better. If there is any yet it never occured to us to set up an implied contract to hold those customers who claim they can do bette HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE."

prevailed in almost all other towns in Massachusetts, let us go back to April, 1880, and review some of the events connected with the ice trade in Woburn and Winchester. Mr. Morrill, in April last, came to us and wanted that we should agree with him upon a list of prices for the current year, saying that other towns had issued their list of prices as follows: Butchers and stores, 40 cents per hundred, and families 50 and 60 cents. He said he knew of no reason why we should sell ice for less than others. We told him that we thought there was no good reason for putting ice so high, but finally agreed upon the following prices: Butchers and stores, 30 cents, and families 50 cents, with conditions. The conditions were broken by Mr. Morrill, whereupon we reduced the price as follows: Butchers and stores, 274 cents per hundred, and families 30 cents. This change did not effect the season or yearly customers. These two classes will be supplied without any change in price at whatever cost. So all other trade will be at reasonable rates, but not at less than one-half the cost to us, as we have not ice enough to carry to all of our transcient customers without buying. If we attempt to carry all cash and hundred customers, when we run out of ice and have to buy at high rates, they will stop taking, and we shall find rates, they will stop taking, and we shall find rates, they will stop taking, and we shall find chusetts, let us go back to April, 1880, and tomers without buying. If we attempt to carry all cash and hundred customers, when we run out of ice and have to buy at high rates, they will stop taking, and we shall find ourselves carrying our season and yearly customers with ice that costs three times what we get for it.

Now let us compare the price of ice in Woburn and Winchester this season with other towns and cities in this county. Lawrence, $1.10 per hundred; Stoneham 50 and 60 cents; Somerville and all the Cambridges, 50 and 60 cents; Lexington, 60 cents; Medford, 50 and 60 cents; and in other piaces in the south part of the State as high as $1.20 per hundred. You cannot buy of large companies in this state or in this county, by the thousand tons, at the rate we have been selling twenty-five pound pieces; and we have been carrying them miles to a hundred pound customers. While these prices have been prevailing in the above towns, we have been selling ice for 274 cents to butchers, and 30 cents to families. As to the report that we agreed to carry hundred or eash customers through the servent on without a rise, or authorizing any other even drivers six fully understood our in structions to be, not to bind ourselves of each and hundred customers at 30 cents cash and hundred customers at 30 cents. We agreed to carry them, but subject to a rise if we were forced to do so. We think it would be wise for those complaners to consider the true situation of the ice trade in Woburn and Winchester, as compared with other localities, before they undertake to censure the company which has given them their ice for two years at a fraction more than one-half what they would have had to pay had it not been for that company.

The New Jersey fishermen are having a good deal of trouble with sharks this season. At Seabright last week one boat was stove through the bottom by a shark which followed a bluefish that had been hooked, and the occupants narrowly escaped drowning. In another case a blue shark jumped clear into a fisherman's boat while endeavoring to seize a fish that had been hooked. Fortunately, however, it jumped over the stern and slid lengthwise into the boat, or it wouls surely have capsized it. The fishermen quickly despatched the monster with the batchets they always carry for such emergencies. It measured six feet in length.

The Cummings Farm.

A correspondent of the Providence (R. I.)
Journal, gives the following description of a visit to Mr. John Cummings' farm at the West Side, located partly in Woburn and partly in Burlington:

"From Arlington center we drove up the pleasant Lexington road for a mile or two, turning to the northweast so as to come upon the rear of the farm, we strike into a narrow country road, with the trees overarching and and the wayside shrubbery brushing the carriage as we pass along. It might be a road in northern New Hampshire or Vermont so far as its having no hint of the nearness of a great city and its palatial surburban residences is concerned. We immerge into a more open track for a short distance, but soon turn into a road, leading through a thick wood lot. This is a private road leading to one side of the farm. Out of the woods we face a large meadow lot, a redeemed bog, now drained, thoroughly worked over and planted with potatoes. The potatoe vines wholly cover the ground, giving promise of a great yield. Crossing this lot by the road we come to some dry land fields of the farm. These fields were lately rough lots, filled with huge rocks and overnu with bushes. The rocks have all been removed we come to some dry land fields of the farm. These fields were lately rough lots, filled with huge rocks and overrun with bushes. The rocks have all been removed and as many as are needed are made into massive walls for enclosing the farm and dividing into lots. These walls may be already numbered by hundreds of rods, and the work is in constant progress. To those who like to see handsome work, to stand firm for a century, these walls are well worth viewing. Many of the stones have been split, and all laid so as to make face work. We pass on up rising ground between rows of young maples and elms, seeing a fine young orchard on our left and a field of four or five acres of onions on our right. We meet the horse trainer of the farm, exercising a nervous young animal. He informs us that to see the potatoe fields farm, exercising a nervous young animal. He informs us that to see the potatoe fields we must go back a little and take another road. Following directions we do see a potatoe field such as are not common in New England, to say the least. and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Induenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures, or syrups, made of cheap and inefective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to deceive and disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is a standard medical preparation, of known and acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its carful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proven its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Catalina got up noiselessly, scarce daring to breathe, made her way to the kitchen, and climbed out through the window which looked on Tagus. It was still dark, and a star here and there broke the gloom. Toward the bed of the Tagus no sound was to be heard but the rushing of the river, and the monning of the windo as it swept through the scaffolding of the bridge of San Martin.

Catalina, before making her exit through the window, had seized from the smoldering embers on the hearth a brand still burning, and noiselessly closing the window after her, she set out, holding her breath even, lest a sound should escape her. Whither was she going? On what errand was she bound? Did she take the burning brand with her to light her on the way amid the surrounding darkness? In spite of the obscurity around her and the dangers of the path, perilous even in the broad glare of day, along which she was hastening, Catalina was careful to conceal under her cloak the fight which alone could show her the windings of the precipitious track she was traversing with a speed marvelous in one so delicately framed.

Catalina drew near the buttress of the Rev. Richard Metcalf returned on Saturday from the Adirondack. He will not resume preaching till September.

The custom that many men and boys have of jumping from the cars at the crossing instead of leaving in a decent and careful way at the depot is becoming too common. The new gates will have a tendency to stop this. Also the accident to young Shannon this week in jumping from a moving freight train ought to teach a lesson.

A boy named Leary and another boy while fooling with an iron vice attached to a workbench near the new brick block got into a misunderstanding and Leary let the handle of the vice fly and it struck the other boy on the head a severe blow. He was taken into Brown's apothecary store and his wounds were bathed and he went on his way.

Quite a number of Winchester people took the trip on Thursday from Boston on the Empire State to Provincetown. As a strong Northeast wind had been blowing the day before a heavy cross sea was running and one of the roughest trip of the season was experienced. More that half the passengers owned up to being seasick and some others were tainted with suspicion. The rolling deep made better score than the average Winchester bowler. All returned in good shape in spite of the shaking up.

It is remarkable that as yet no fine residences have been built along the ridge on the west side of the town. Sooner or later this must be devoted to such buildings. It would be a fine thing for the town if Highland avenue on the east side were extended southerly to the Medford line, and a similar avenue built on the west side ridge and the two connected. Then as these two rivals, both with their beautiful views, were built up, there would be attracted into the town a first class population. Compared with what remains to be built over, Winchester's inhabited portion contrasts unfavorably. But ten years will change this, provided business is prosperous.

Mr. EDITOR:—I have seen some hits in your paper at the condition of the Winchester town lockup. If I understand the law, the town is in duty bound to provide a suitable place for the detention of persons arrested for crime or applying for lodging. I have had occasion to look in at the place provided, several times of late and can say from personal observation that there has been for four weeks past a space the whole length of the place and about six inches wide where there has been water enough standing to be noticed. And during this time there has been no fire to dry it up. Several prisoners have been kept in the lockup over night, and in one case a boy was kept from Thursday to Saturday for was the suitable of the Board of Health had examined the place, it is the suitable of the suitable of the presence of the suitable of the suitable

The Fifth District. The announcement that Gen. S. C. Law-rence of Medford would be a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District did not occa-sion much surprise, as his name has before been suggested. Some take it as conclusive sion much surprise, as his name has before been suggested. Some take it as conclusive evidence that Gen. Banks will not be a candidate, as it is thought that, owing to the personal friendship between them, Gen. Lawrence would not consent to the use of his name if Gen. Banks was in the field. There are others, however, who think that, if there was a dead-lock in the convention, Gen. Lawrence would withdraw from the contest in favor of Gen. Banks. Those opposed to the gentleman of the "sonorous voice" intend to "look lively" that no such combination is made, for there are many who prefer Bowman to Banks.—Herald.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hood's Sarsaparilla will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and
health of the whole system, and that disease
of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing
cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates serofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

It cures Scrofula and all scrofulaus diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Facegrubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give Ayer's SarsapaRhilla a fair trial.

SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYRE'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

And so half a year passed. One day the postman left a letter at the door. The hand of the superscription was familiar. Mrs. Walsh tore it open and glanced her eyes over the contents. Oh, joy! Oh, rapture! Her boy lived, was well, and was on his way home to her.

When Dr. Walsh entered the room he found his wife fainting, with the letter clutched tight in her nerveless grasp.

By-and-by, when the great surge had passed, husband and wife sat down and read the letter understandingly.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

and take a hand in the proceedings.

Without endorsing the Herald's conclusion that Mr. Bowman is not " a solid and sensible man" we agree with it in its estimate of the character of Hon. John Cummings of Fifth District in Congress. He is a gentleman of superior business qualifications, conversant with public affairs, and has had sufficient legislative experience to enable him to take at once an honorable and useful position in the House. In common with his townsmen and a large number of Republicans in the District, the JOURNAL would be glad to support Mr. Cummings for Congress.

The Boston Journal of Tuesday morning contained the following fair and candid editorial statement of the situation in the Dis-

The strength of Mr. Bowman consists in the fact that he made a good run two years ago, and during his first term has been attentive to his duties, responding promptly to the demands of his constituents. He has done nothing from a party standpoint that warrants his being set aside, and the only valid plea for refusing him a renomination was based on the supposition that a stronger man could be brought forward. This has been attempted, but it has become apparent that Mr. Bowman had adherents who were so numerous that his loss of the nomication would not be conducive to the popularity of his successful contestent. Gen. Lawrence, seeing this clearly, dealines to have his name used, and Mr. Lodge also refuses to be considered a candidate, both regarding the success of the party as paramount to their personal advancement. These gentlemen have acted wisely under the circumstances, and the party is under obligations to them. No one questions the ability of either Mr. Lawrence or Mr. Lodge to represent the District in Congress with marked ability. Mr. Lawrence has been a republican who has shown his fidelity to the party for manny years, and Mr. Lodge is one of the younger class of Republicans who enters public life with rare advantages, and will be sure to attain to any honor that he may seek at no distant day. Any further combination we trust will be abandoned, as the logic of recent events shows conclusively that Mr. Bowman is a strong man in his District.

At the meeting of the friends of the Hon S. Z. Bowman held last Tuesday in Bostor a committee was appointed to nominate and notify a "Bowman Campaign Cammittee" tor the purpose of perfecting organization in the interests of the candidate. The committee report as follows:

The situation in the Fifth District has simplified itself. Mr. Lodge has taken himself out of the contest, and, if Gen. Lawrence's declination of the candidacy is in earnest, the only antagonist Congressman Bowman has to fear is Marshall Banks, who is, we understand, at present a member of the Repablican party. ## A Shocking Railroad Accident.

A shocking accident occurred on Saturday evening, on the Lowell & Lawrence Railroad, by which five young men lost their lives. There had been a Caledonian picnic at Haggett's pond, and five young men samed Shinick, Meagher, Ryan, Mack, and Nolan, all of Lowell, attended. In the evening, when the time for returning home arrived, they elimbed on top of a passenger car, and there, quietly sitting and talking, awaited the train's approach to Lowell, not dreaming any possible danger except of detection by the conductor or train hands. Shortly after nine o'clock the train passed Mace's crossing, three miles from Lowell, ear which is a low stone bridge. When the train passed under this bridge the young men came violently in contact with the stonework and were swept from the top of the bridge, killing them instantaneously.

social intercourse is vastly improved by the admixture of the feminine element. So far as my own observation extends, domestic life becomes more dignified and more pleasant where wives and daughters take an intelligent interest in the literary tastes, the scientifie pursuits and the political opinions of husbands and fathers. As for the allegation of diminished usefulness, I can see no reason why a participation in public affairs should make a woman neglect her household duties, any more than there is why the blacksmith should neglect his shop, or the farmer his fields, for the same reason. It is not sensible women, but fashionable women, who are in danger of neglecting their households. As for the comparative intellect of men and women, I think it has nothing whatever to do with the question; for the simple reason that this government is a republic, and not an oligarchy. The intellectual development of women, as a class, is unquestionably inferior to that of men; but they also have, for ages, been systematically excluded from pursuits most likely to stimulate and invigorate the mind, and have been constantly taught that an inferior and subordinate position was their natural destiny and their appropriate place. All teaching that undermines self-reliance, weakens the strength of character; and everywhere the muscles of intellect grow strong in proportion to the freedom with which they are exercised. The marked difference between the women of Asia and the women of New England is a

The swill business should be regulated by the Board of Health by licensing a reasonable number of persons to gather offal, and saving the annoyance to the passers on our streets that they now meet with in various ways from the present system. No large license fee need be charged, but there are ten times too many in the business at present. Our town is growing and salutary regulations must be made for the public benefit.

Trouble at Hancock's Headquarters

Trouble at Hancock's Headquarters.

GOTENDOR'S ISLAND,

(Wich is in the state ov Noo York.)

August 6, 1880.

The noospapers are full ov an akkount uv Gen. Hancock's faintin in the presence uv two delegashuns which called him.

The troo history uv the case is this:

We have a electric arrangement from the ante-room where I stand to the general's rooms. There are 60 keys marked with the states and the shades uv opinyun wich make up the dimerkratic party. Thus one is marked "Noo York—hard money," another "Loozeaner—secesh," and so on.

My dosty is to admit only one party at a time to see the general and to notify him in advance wat principles the visitin party perfesses, that our candidate may make no mistakes.

For instance, ther comes a man from mistakes.

For instance, ther comes a man from Pennsylvany. It is my dooty to find wat his noshuns are on the tariff. I ask him, to begin with, how trade is. He ansers "Bully."

Then I say, "how does the present tariff work for you?" He says, "bully," wunst more, and then I know all about it. He is interistid in manufacters, and is a high tariff man.

and the robels, in that long terrible list of prisoners, starved to death by their hellish ingenuity, never deprived the country of a better or more faithful soldier, or a more true and incorruptible citizen.

herself. Will yoo please retire while I bring him to?"

They went out, and the gineral got up.
"Are they all gone?" he asked.
"They are all gone," sed I.
"Thery are all gone," sed I.
"There must be a new plan fixed sed he.
"I can't keep on faintin in this way till the first uv November. The next time this happens I shel faint in ded earnest, and it will be no sham."

Wat we shel do I don't know. It wuz sejestid that our candidate take an extended European trip, but of he does that we lose the effect uv his superb face and figger, wich is wat we nominatid him fur. Ef we keep him here and yoottlize that, we run the risk uv hevin him talked to, wich is fatle.

We hev the matter under consultashun now, but hey not bin able to come to any conclushen.

I wish to Heaven I coul be a keeper for now, but hev not bin alone to conclushen.

I wish to Heaven I cood be a keeper for Garfeel. His man hez a soft thing uv it. The cussid republicans hevn't but one set uv opinyums and ther ain't no trouble about that. Garfeeld's doorkeeper he sets and admits everybody, without asking no questions, and hez nothin watever to do ceptin to say, "walk in, gentlemen." And they go in and Garfeeld talks to all uv 'em, and ther ain't no rows and no financeerin, nor no nothin.

krat. We hev too extensive a set of principles, and they require too grate a straddle to kiver 'em all. I wish to heaven the first of November wuz here. This kind uv a thing is altogether too wearin on a not overstrong constitueshen.

Gen. Hancock and the Orderly.
A citizen of Frankfort, Ky., who was ormerly a Sergeant in the regular army, ells the following story of Hancock's army life:

"I was stationed before the war at Fort Leavenworth, and was on detached duty as Orderly at the headquarters of Gen. A Smith. Gen. Hancock was also stat". J. that post, being a Captain in the sound at ted States Infantry, under "... Sixth University of the states of the stat ser. Ser. In front of the building used by the ser. Inith, which was directly upon the ser. Leet.

Army officers frequently passed by, and a one day Capt. Hancock, who was noted among the private soldiers for pompous, arrogant, and tyrranical bearing, came along the road in front of headquarters.

As required by army regulations, I drew myself up in proper position and made the customary military salute. He paid no more attention to me or my salute than if I had not been there at all, and went on his way. Later in the day he returned, and as he passed by, feeling somewhat nettled by his treatment of me before, I didn't salute him. He had passed me a few steps, when he turned, and said in a savage way: 'Orderly, do you know your duty?' 'I hink I know it,' I replied. 'Then, sir, why didn't you salute me as I passed?' I told him I didn't tender the salute because he failed, as duty required, to return my salute when he first came by. We had some other words, when Gen. Smith, who, it seems, was in the second story of the house and had overheard our conversation, poked his head out of the window above us and peremptorily cried out: 'Orderly!' 'Yes, sir.' 'You will pace that (the sentinel's) beat for half an hour and salute Capt. Hancock every time you pass him, and Capt. Hancock will keep his position and return your salute.'

And there I was kept by old 'A. J.' pacing the beat for half an hour, saluting Hancock every time I passed, and he had to stand there and return my salute.'

The canal to connect to sea of Azov with the Caspian will shortly be considered by the Russian Minister of Works and then discussed by the Imperial Council. It is expected that the plan will be sanctioned by the Cars, but work upon the canal will not be commenced until next year.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, Knowing the merits of what they sell, will furnis

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair The Vigor is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

THE VERMONT ELECTION.

The largest vote Vermont has ever thrown for years was polled at the election last Tuesday. The campaign had been an unusually sharp one for that State, and stayaways from the ballot boxes were not tolerated by either party. Inspired with hope of a national victory in November, the Demo crats put in extra work, time and money to crats put in extra work, time and money to secure a respectable showing at the polls.

The first Catholic parochial school in Lowell was opened yesterday; it has accommodations for 575 pupils. ing one. The result was more favorable to the Republicans than was generally anticiin India, is threatened. pated, their majority reaching to nearly or quite 27,000 on the general ticket. It was a sweeping victory. The Legislature elected is overwhelmingly Republican, and the Congressional delegation of the same stripe. For a "gun" the Vermont election will do very well. Now for Maine!

LYNN FOR BOWMAN.

Last Monday evening the Republicans of Lynn held their caucuses to choose delegates to the Congressional convention. The friends and supporters of Mr. Bowman were triumphant in every ward, and a solid Bowman delegation was selected. As it has been conceded on all hands that the success or defeat of our Member would depend on a the action of the Lynn Republicans, and as they have pronounced in his favor, it is not expected that the opposition will continue the war on him any longer, but submit with good grace to the inevitable. It is expected too that they will all turn in and give him their cordial support.

The Lynn Bee evidently mistakes the position of the Journal on the Congressional question in this District. This arises probably from the fact that, with a desire to treat all candidates fairly, we have said some things favorable to Mr. Bowman. Its premises being untrue the comments of the Bee on our course are unjust. We have advocated the nomination of no man, holding that it is not within the legitimate province of s party organ to undertake to dictate to the people in the matter of nominations, but to let them settle that in convention, and when settled to go to work earnestly and heartily for the success of the ticket. The paper that pursues a different course and sides in with this, that or the other set of men in support of a particular aspirant before the convention, is apt to impair its influence and usefulness, and not unfrequently find itself in an unpleasant predicament.

Having not as yet met with any satisfac-tory argument in favor of setting Mr. Bowman aside and taking up a new man, and the opposition having failed to furnish any substantial reasons for such a course, we lack of showing, he is fairly entitled to the and a fair deal clearly dictate his renomination. Hon. John Cummings said to a representative of this paper not long since that while Mr. Lodge was his personal choice, Mr. Bowman was unquestionably entitled to a re-election, and unless his opponents can show a stronger hand than has yet been exhibited Mr. Cummings's view was doubtless the correct one so far as the claims of Mr. Bowman are concerned.

As to the candidacy of Mr. Cummings, local pride and a firm more than ordinary ability, and to the entire acceptance of his constituency, lead the Journal to regard with favor his nomination, though, having been assured by him that he is not in the field, we have not advo-

The Republicans of New Hampshire at their recent State Convention incorporated the following plank in their platform of principles which is the best statement of the financial issue that has yet been made:

"That the party that has maintained the financial integrity of the Republic by the resumption of specie payments and the hon-est discharge of National liabilities, thereby est discharge of National liabilities, thereby lifting the industries of the country from unparalleled depression to unprecedented prosperity, should not be supplanted by a party which has repudiated its financial obligations and done all in its power to debase the National currency and to throw perpetual blight on the industries and prasperity of the Nation.

Gov. Cornell, in an interview with a New York Tribune correspondent on Monday, expressed himself as follows upon the Republican prospects in that State:

"Judging from my own observation and the information which reaches me from various sources, there can be no question of the success of the Republican party. It is the general belief of both Republicans and Democrats that New York will decide the result of the election. If this shall prove true the Republicans need have no apprehension. New York will unquestionably choose the Republican Electors. The evidences of success are apparent on every side. Never since 1872 has there been so promising a canvass in this State for the Republican party. In the first place, our candidates will receive the votes of all Republicans. This of itself would carry the State; but we are to have a large vote in addition to our party vote. The non-partisan vote, which in 1876 was cast for Mr. Tilden because 'it wanted a change,' will this year vote the Republican ticket because it does 'not want a change.' This vote will count at least 30,000, and in changing from one side to the other, will make a difference of 60,000 in the result."

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. Ayer's Pills are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

Ayer's Pills are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Billousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal. While gentle in their action, these PILLs are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

"Then Mistress Elizabeth Rosseter, you must needs take the consequence!" answered Sir Arthur, growing angry and speaking in a cold, hard voice. "I have borne with your whim because I thought it would not last. The matter is here. If you are to be my wife, you must forget that you have any maily but mine, any duty but to me. There are those who tell me that, with my position in the country, to say naught of court favor, I should be wiser to consult my interest in wedding some one more nearly my equalsome one at least not the daughter of a poor Puritan squire under suspicion of the government. My love has made me dispise all these disadvantages, but now the time and place has come to a clere understanding. Itell you plainly that will never call your father mine, nor will I go to Leyden for a wife. Make your choice."

He had avoided looking at her while speaking, but now he turned and held outh his arms with a smile saying in a caressing tone:

"Come, let there be an end of this! Kiss and be friend. Let your father go his way, and abide here with your aunt, and all shall be well."

But Ellizabeth Rosseter drew herself uppale and stately as a statue.

"I thank you, Sir Arthur, for putting the matter so plainly. I have made my choice, and shall abide thereby. I give you back your ring and bid you farewell."

Sir Arthur looked prettier than you do this very minute."

THE MAINE ELECTION.

Reports from the canvass had led the pub lic to look for a Republican triumph in Maine last Monday. Leaders of the assured their friends everywhere that the election of Davis was certain beyond peradverture, and that the size of the victory was the only question to be decided. Similar reports were made by the Republican stump speakers; the National Committee were en-tirely confident of success; and the Democracy even conceded the State to their op-

Under these circumstances the result was under these circumstances the result was a surprise to everybody, and a disappointment to the Republicans. They had for some weeks confidently anticipated a majority for their standard-bearer of from 5000 to 8000, instead of which the election is so We do not look for a journal whose zeal is 8000, instead of which the election is so close that neither party can with confidence claim the victory. The disappointment to the Republicans arises from having expected too much. A careful study of the canvass course which long experience has demo and returns of 1879 did not warrant the high hopes of success which they felt, and if more ed had been given to the actual situatio than to reports which were conjectural at the best they would have been saved their pres ent mortification.

The returns to date show the result of the election to have been about as last year, with the gain a little in favor of the Repub licans. In 1879 Mr. Davis lacked about brightening every day. They have some 1300 of a majority of the vote of the State, and therefore failed of his election by the people. Three Congressional districts were held by the Republicans. The Senate stood about as the one just elected will, and the House was less strongly Republican then lose their Governor, will have the Council, adopted last Tuesday it is probable the will not be "counted-out" either Fusion candidate for Governor will have 200 or 300 plurality; if it was not, then the Legislature will elect, and Mr. Davis will retain his seat. The Republicans have chosen the same number of Congressmen, and the Legislature, on joint ballot, is more strongly Republican than last year.

So, that, as the smoke of battle lifts and the actual situation becomes more apparent it is seen that the Republicans of Maine have at least held their own, and this against tre-mendous odds. There is no denying that "bar'ls" of money were furnished the

What will be the effect on the November Will it endanger the Garfield ticket? We think not. While the opposition which tion were solid, or nearly so, against the timidation Republicans in September it will be found that fusion won't fuse in November, and an entirely different issue of the presidential canvass in that State may be looked for with the control online of the control of the confidence. ### STATE CONVENTION.

The Republican State Convention held at ester on Wednesday was fully attended and very harmonious. The regular business was quickly got through with, all of the present officers being renominated by acclamation with the exception of Treasurer. For this position Daniel A. Gleason of Medford was selected in place of Charles Endicott, who declined a re-election. Speeches were made by prominent members of the party, in all of which confidence in the ability of the Republicans to carry the country in November was expressed.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The Republican Congressional Convention of the Fifth District was held in Monument Hall, Charlestown, on Thursday. Hon. J. G. Pollard of Woburn, was President. The result of a ballot taken for candidate for Congress was: Bowman, 91; Cummings, 2 Banks, 1. The nomination of Mr. Bowm was made unanimous with hearty cheers. Which settles the matter.

Tilden's "bar'l" wasn't quite hefty enough to beat Hon. Tom Reed in the First Maine Congressional District, though the old man did his level best to defeat him. He hates Reed as the devil hates holy water, and made it a condition of sending his "bar'l" into Maine that Reed should be less political outrages in Dixie.—Taunton Gazette. Tilden's "bar'l" wasn't quite hefty enough to beat Hon. Tom Reed in the First "bar'l" into Maine that Reed should be slaughtered. But it didn't count, "our member" being returned by a good "working influential members of the national House, and his defeat would have been a disgrace to the First District and a public misfortune.

The political race in Indiana habeen, so far, about nip and tuck, with the Republicans a little ahead, who, the best informed predict, will win in October. The contest will be a very close one, but it is said changes favorable to the Republicans are going on, and that their prospects are brightening every day. They have some trump cards, too, in reserve, which when played, will give them additional advantages.

A report of a mass meeting at Anderson S. C., states that "there were 2153 mountee Red Shirts in line and two companies of ar tillery." This is what the Charleston News and Courier, which publishes the report, regards as an awakening of "the spirit of 1876." People who remember the bloody work which the Red Shirts did in 1876 in suppressing the free speech and if free ballot will not regard it as an encour aging sympton that they are mustering searly and in such force. Nor will they be reassured by such declarations as the following in a speech at this meeting by Hon M. P. O'Connor:

The rescinding of the convention plan has caused considerable expression of opinion since the Republican caucus. By some it is thought that there will be so much diversity that the nomine will not be the choice of reason but of necessity, and subject to the chance of defeat, if the Democrats nominate a strong man. James F. Dwinell, Esq., is understood to have withdrawn from the field. Samuel J. Elder, Esq., is the candidate of some members of the Reform Club, and will receive some outside support. The general opinion, so far as heard, is that the club make a mistake and violate their own rules, in making a political machine, in any sense, of their society, and that it will injure not only themselves but their candidate. Much good has been done in the past by the club, and it will be a pity to have it wrecked in any such way. The friends of J. F. Stone, Esq., and of S. W. Twombly, Esq., appear to be carrying on a good-natured contest. If this triangular fight holds, it will not be unreasonable to suppose that some entirely new man gets the new proposed at a late hour and everybody left highly pleased.

In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarth, the effects of Ayre's Cherry Pectoral, and magneticular and palatakes. The many preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures, or syrups, made of cheap and inefective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to deceive and disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYEE'S CHERKEY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is a standard medical preparation, of known and acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proven its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Mrs. Macy Agnew was something of diplomat. She took Miss Lourne under here charge in precisely the same way that an expert moulder takes a piece of porcelain whose beauty has been marred by rough usage. She had no thought of making Polly a woman different from what she now was she meant merely merely to rener over the rude exterior, and to refine and elevate the heart and nature by the outer change.

She set about her take with all the system and resolution it required. "Texa not the work of a day, a week, or a month. LITERARY NOTICES.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison contributes an article to the October number of the North American Review, in which he states that he has succeeded in making the electric light entirely practicable for all illuminating purposes. He shows the advantages of electricity over gas, and explains how his system is to be introduced. He comments upon the unfavorable opinions that have been passed upon his work, and says that similar judgments were pronounced upon telegraphy, steam navagation, and other great discoveries. Other articles in the October number of the Review are: "The Democratic Party judged by its History," by Emery A. Storrs; "The Ruins of Central America," by Desire Charnay; "The Observance of the Sabbath," by Rev. Dr. Leonard Bacon; "The Campaign of 1862," by Judge D. The Greenbackers of Maine held their State convention for the choice of presidential electors on Tuesday in Portland. A large majority of the delegates were Democrats who succeeded after a stormy debate in carrying a resolution to "jine drives" with the Democratic party and place a mongrel electoral ticket in the field. Under the leadership of Solon Chase about one hundred and firty honest Greenbackers bolted and held a separate convention, which chose a full list of Weaver electors, on which line they propose to fight it out. The effect of this quarrel among the opposition will be to increase the Republicans majority in November, which without it would have been large enough for all practical purposes.

LOCAL NEWS.

Dr. J. L. Wyman.—Removal.
Chas. Thompson.—Middlesex Fair.
Charles C. Hart, whose smiling face is daily seen among us, will for a week or more be absent from his accustomed place, having started last Friday for New York city, where he will spend several days in sight-seeing. Like Betsey Bobbett, he will undoubtedly make the Astor House his stopping place while in the city, and all the places of interest will be visited. We understand he has never made so extensive a trip before, and his visit at this time will no doubt prove pleasant and profitable.

Worthless Stuff.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hood's Sarsaparilla will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and
health of the whole system, and that disease
of various kinds is often only the sign that
nature is trying to remove the disturbing
cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion
that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scorfula and other impurities from it, as Hood's Sarsaparallla
undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulmess is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Democratic Tributes to Garfield.

It is well known that a few of the more unscrupulous organs of the Democratic party have engaged in an assault upon the character of Gen. Garfield. Over against these we set the opinions of leading Democrats, some of which have been given since Gen. Garfield has been nominated for the Presidency, and others before that occurred: Garfield holds to-day the honored position of being the only poor man among the political leaders.—Don Piatt.

He would not do a dishonest act for his own sake or for its own sake.—Henry Watterson.

I will tell you whom I think the Republic

I will tell you whom I think the Republicans could mominate, and whom I consider their strongest man; he is a true man, a man of principle, an honest man, and would make a good President for us all. Personally, I consider him the best man you could nominate. I refer to James A. Garfield of Ohio.—T. A. Hendricks, Democratic candidate for Vice-President in 1876.

Oakes Ames swears that Garfield got ten shares, and Garfield swears that he did not do anything of the kind. There was a good deal of talk and no proof against him; and I am compelled to say that Garfield gets out better than anyone else, and on the whole there was not sufficient evidence to fasten of Ohio.

corruption at his door. — Senator Thurman of Ohio.

He lives economically; the present improvements on his house at Mentor—which may cost $3000—involve the most considerable expenditures his neighbors are aware of. No, no. With Gen. Garfield's political erecd I am utterly at variance; but this does not counsel me to an unconsidered assaut upon that candidate's private honor.—Hon. H. B. Payne, of Ohio, democratic candidate for Presidential nomination.

I served fours in Congress with Gen. Garfield, I know him well, and I honor him for his honesty, his integrity, his ability, his breadth of knowledge and his upright character.—Congressman R. Millon Speer, from Pennsylvania.

breadth of knowledge and his upright enarneter.—Congressman R. Millon Speer, from Pennsylvania.

I know James A. Garfield by being with him in the lower house of Congress for years, and I know there is no republican in that party abler than he. I see that the newspapers are making charges against his character; but, my friends, I cannot say they are in any wise true.—Congressman William Springer from Illinois.

I know General Garfield personally, have been on the same committee with him, and he is a gentleman of good morals, is social, clever, and has a great intellect. Intellectnally he has no superior in the House. He is a good man, has a mind of inexhaustible resources, and has not a word to say to detract from his integrity.—Congressman Wm. H. Fellon, from Georgia.

As to the credit mobiler matters with which Gen. Garfield has been charged, I believe he was altogether innocent of them. It will not do for the democratic party to throw mud at Gen. Garfield, because if they do they will elect him.—Hon. Alexander II.
Stephens.

Your expressed determination that Gen.

Stephens.
Your expressed determination that Gen. Garfield shall be defended against all unjust assaults upon his personal character, is equally pleasant reading to me, for I have been his devoted friend for many years, and I am resolved that I will never believe that he does not deserve the affection I have bestowed upon him. If he would carry the principles which regulate his private life into his public conduct, he would make the best Chief Magistrate we ever had. — Judge Black.

Black.

In the midst of the organized carnival of corruption which has been going on now so many weary months and years at Washington, it is really satisfactory to catch a glimpse now and then of honesty for honesty's sake, and without consideration of party. Gen. Garfield of Ohio; is a republican of republican; but it is his simple due, which we gladly pay him, to admit that he has done more than any other single member of his party, during the late session of Congress, to show than any other single member of his party, during the late session of Congress, to show that it is not impossible for a man to act with a Congressional majority, and yet to keep his self-respect and respect of honest men. New York World, May 30th, 1872.

The Old House.

In our last issue we had a short account of the old house on Lowell street, now being demolished by its owner, Mr. Mark Marston, tracing its occupancy back to the time of Major Amos King, some seventy years ago. Since then a friend has handed in a slip giving us the names of the following persons who occupied it previous to Major King, as follows: Capt. George Smith, George Southwick, Capt. Richard Downing, and Major Zachariach King, father to Major Amos King. We print the names in the order he sends us, and presume by this that Capt. George Smith was either the first cocupant, or the first known occupant, as far as can be ascertained at the present time. In his list of occupants, he also has the name of Capt. Richard Smith, and the others we mentioned in our last issue.

Time had badly discolored the paper, it by holding it up to the light, the crostamp is distinctly visible. The size of t sheet is about 7½ inches square, and whith writer folded it up for the directions presented a surface of only 3x2 inches. Taddress was as follows:

in Danvers

It will be noticed that "Souwick" is without the t, but perhaps it was so spelled in those days. The letter had been scaled with something similiar to the old-fashioned wafer, but bore no postal marks whatever upon it. Perhaps the finding of this old letter may give some further clue to the ancient history of this old house, and to this end we have printed it in our columns.

One of the workmen, last week, found an English penny in the rubbish, dated 1712—one hundred and sixty-eight years old.—Peabody Press.

George Peck of Milwaukee went to Chicago during the conclave and fell in love with the Sir Knights' hats. He says that "next to the bearskin hat of a drum major the chapeau of a Knight Templar is the grandest head gear in the world. It is made after the pattern of an inverted coal scuttle that had been sat down on sidewise by a fat man, and the top of it is covered with spring millinery. A commandery looks as though a millinery shop had exploded.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Gen. Haskell of the salvation army is journeying in the West. At St. Louis he rushed out of his tent and kicked over one of the colored boys who were disturbing the meeting. Repenting of his conduct, he kissed the lad and gave him twenty cents, but the twenty cents did not appease the youngster's wrath nor the kiss heal the kick, and he had the General arrested, and the latter was fined $50.

potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weak-nesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. Emaciation, and General Debility. By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AVER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.
